

Approves Support Increase

House Okays Farm Bill Item Raising Dairy Price Supports To 80 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today approved a provision in the controversial farm bill raising dairy price support to 80 per cent of parity—5 per cent above the level ordered last April by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Prior to Benson's action, the dairy support rate had stood at 90 per cent. He lowered it to 75.

The House earlier had turned down by voice vote an attempt to strike from the farm measure a proposed two price plan for wheat backed by farm state members.

As the farm battle neared a climactic final vote, high price support forces were under increasing pressure. An administration drive for retention of a modified flexible support program appeared to be gaining headway.

The anti-administration forces planned to seek a showdown roll-call vote in their efforts to continue mandatory high farm price props another year at 90 per cent of parity. They had suffered a surprising setback when the House tentatively approved the compromise calling for a flexible props at from 82½ to 90 per cent.

Rallying their forces, the farm state groups rejected an amendment by Rep. Ford (R-Mich) to cut from the House bill a wheat plan authored by Chairman Hope (R-Kans) of the House Agriculture Committee.

The plan calls for a referendum among wheat farmers next year on continuing straight price supports and controls, or accepting a plan to take 100 per cent of parity on that portion of their crop grown for domestic consumption and lower world prices for the rest of their production going into feed or export.

Ford said the plan makes possible lower-priced wheat for foreign consumers at the expense of domestic users. He called it "unsound" in the face of government wheat holdings he said already totaling 2½ billion dollars.

Defending the two-price proposal, Rep. Belcher (R-Okla) said it "would not cost the taxpayers one dime."

Hope said it would save "taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars" now spent by the government in export subsidies at world prices below the U. S. support level.

The House yesterday rejected both fixed high supports and the Eisenhower administration program of flexible supports, and voted for a compromise put forward by House leaders. But the standing-vote decision could be reversed in a formal showdown roll call scheduled before tonight.

Ninety-two members didn't take part in the standing vote when the House yesterday approved 179-164 a compromise price support amendment to the farm bill offered by Rep. Robert D. Harrison (R-Neb) with the backing of GOP House leaders.

Instead of the administration's program of flexible supports at 75 to 90 per cent of parity, the compromise calls for flexible supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity.

Before voting on the compromise, the House shouted down an amendment by Rep. Heselton (R-Mass) which would have enacted the administration program in toto.

The contested price support feature of the bill applies only to six basic commodities—cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts—all of which are now supported at 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a legally set price standard said to give farmers a fair return on their production in relation to their costs.

Still to be taken up by the House, among other things, are proposals to raise dairy price supports from their existing level of 75 per cent of parity to 80 per cent. Secretary of Agriculture Benson lowered the dairy support rate from 90 to 75 per cent April 1.

And We Got It

Yesterday we said we would take some of the cooler weather, especially at night, and a bit more rain. Thank you, we got it. The rain came yesterday afternoon and evening, last night was another wonderful night for sleep and this morning was rather nice.

The five day forecast for this area indicates it will be fair for the fourth, and probably hot. Temperatures will be five to ten degrees above the 89 normal high for the area, and while there is some possibility of rain, it will be short on amount. By Wednesday it is supposed to cool off again.

Partly cloudy and hot tonight and Saturday with a chance of late afternoon thunder-showers. High Saturday in the 90s. Low tonight in the lower 70s.

The temperature at 1 a. m. was 72; 94 at 1 p. m., and 96 at 2 p. m. Rainfall at State Fair Floral 11 inch. It was more downtown and only a trace at the Country Club.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks: 55.9, steady.

W. E., Union Officials Meet Separately

Will Hold Joint Session in Effort To End 'Phone Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators for Western Electric Co., and the union met separately today in preparation for a joint session later in the day in an effort to end the day-old coast-to-coast strike of telephone equipment installers.

Officials of District 10, CIO Communications Workers of America, called the walkout yesterday and by noon most of its 17,000 members were idle.

The dispute over higher wages contemplated transfers and grievance procedures could cripple the Bell Telephone System in 44 states and the District of Columbia if the union throws picket lines around telephone exchange buildings.

Western Electric is the manufacturing arm of the Bell System. Telephone operators in Texas walked off their jobs yesterday in a number of cities, honoring the installers' picket lines. Operators were reported out at Dallas, Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Mexico, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Abilene and Lubbock.

Union leaders have announced they plan to delay nationwide picketing until Tuesday, but also indicated the plan was "subject to change."

With 80 per cent of the nation's phones on the dial system, the full impact of the strike on local telephone users would not be felt for some time.

But cross-country picketing would seriously disrupt long-distance calls and various services such as information. Some 300,000 phone operators are members of the CWA.

An exception to the mass walkout yesterday was in New Jersey, where 1,000 union members stayed on the job.

Informal talks between both parties were held yesterday. Following the conference, company officials indicated a joint meeting may take place sometime today.

States not affected by the strike are Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Montana. Maintenance and installation work in those areas is handled by the Bell System rather than by Western Electric.

The CWA's contract with Western Electric expired May 2.

The union seeks a 6 to 8-cent hourly pay boost and the company has offered a 4 to 7 cents. Present pay averages $1.86 an hour.

A company spokesman has said that wages are the prime issue. The union contends, however, that a company proposal to establish additional base locations from which installers would work was more important.

Currently, Western Electric has 111 sub base locations throughout the country. Installers required to work beyond commuting range from their home base are paid travel and living expenses.

The company has proposed five new bases—in West Palm Beach and Pensacola in Florida; Lake Charles, La.; Macon, Ga.; and Saginaw, Mich.

The union opposes such additional bases on grounds that an under-termined number of installers would have to give up their present homes and move to the new areas. The company claims the new bases are needed as a result of increased service requirements.

Candidate Promises To Aid Mercy Hospital

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Garnet Gilmer, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for eastern judge of the County Court here, has made a new kind of a campaign promise.

If elected, Gilmer promised in a speech, he will give $2,400 a year his $8,000 salary to the Children's Mercy Hospital here.

Laos Leader, Reds Arrive At Geneva

US Fears Increase That Indochina Sell-Out Is Near

GENEVA (AP)—Defense Minister Kou Varavong of Laos and three Lao officers arrived here today for talks with Vietnamese representatives in a mid-growing American fears a sell-out in Indochina is imminent.

The Lao representatives arrived shortly before the 27th session of the Indochina peace talks opened in the Palace of Nations. They were accompanied by the French adviser to the Laoian Defense Ministry.

They were met by members of the Laoian delegation here and by Philip Bonsal, director of the U. S. State Department's office of Philippine and Southeast Asian Affairs.

A Cambodian military delegation headed by Gen. Nhek Tioulong is due to arrive here tomorrow.

With the top Cambodian and Laoian military representatives in Geneva, it is expected that the military phase of the discussions here can be brought to a speedy conclusion. Both the Cambodians and Laoians have stated they will walk out of any discussions in which the Vietnam try to claim parts of their territory.

Both contend they are victims of open invasion by Vietnam elements and the only solution is the withdrawal of these forces.

Today's conference session was the southern portion of the Red River delta began, an action whose implications hung heavily over the conference.

The evacuation in the delta, it was learned on high authority, was taken independently of the negotiations here.

It was understood the action did not come as a surprise in Western delegation circles and apparently the French had kept their Western Allies advised of events in Indochina. The U. S. State Department in Washington said yesterday it had no advance information.

The evacuation served to underline United States fears the negotiations here are headed for a sell-out to the Communists on Viet Nam, if not on Laos and Cambodia, the other two associated states of Indochina.

'Hopper Control Needed

Even Greater Horde Of Insects Coming This Year Than Ever; Sprays Are Effective

Stirling Kyd, extension entomologist, told a group of county agents at a meeting at Clinton Wednesday night that the 1954 grasshopper numbers were larger than anytime during the serious outbreaks of the '30's. "An overall spray program, including spraying every acre on the farm infested with grasshoppers, will be necessary," Kyd said, "to protect 1954 crops."

The cold facts are that one spraying will be effective on hoppers for only five to seven days. That means that unless pastures, meadows, small grain fields, fence rows and other places on the farm infested with hoppers are sprayed at the same time as the corn and beans that the fields will soon be reinfested and need spraying again.

The tiny hoppers appearing now are apparently hatching from eggs laid only recently. Kyd expects even a partial third generation. "The only hope," he said, "is a lot of rain which is extremely unlikely." Otherwise he expects these insects will be with us until frost.

The present poison acts mainly as stomach insecticide so the hoppers must eat it to be destroyed. Kyd expects a slow up in effectiveness of the poison at the time the corn starts "silking." At that time the hoppers will feed almost entirely on the silks and it is very difficult to get enough poison on those silks to kill many of the hoppers.

Recommendations are not to judge fall under three to four days. If other areas are not sprayed, more hoppers will move in and results will be hard to measure. However, aldrin has given very satisfactory results wherever used and entomologists are high in its praise as an effective insecticide.

At the present time only a very few Pettis farmers are doing their own spraying and an even smaller number are doing custom spraying. Thursday morning about 800 to 900 acres had already been sprayed with airplanes and another 750 acres were listed ahead.

Many folks do not own sprayers while others are too busy to use those they have. A canvas of machinery companies in Sedalia Thursday showed only one with sprayers available for immediate delivery. Another was waiting an essential part for several units on hand, the other sprayed in two days to two weeks and two are not handling sprayers. There was a difference of opinion as to up-keep. One of the dealers felt that the service needs were excessive while another said they had very few calls for service.

The average 160 acre farm probably has around 40 acres of corn and beans. If the 40 acres is sprayed by airplane at a charge of $1.95 per acre, the cost would be $78. If another 100 acres of pasture and meadow that is infested with hoppers is sprayed with ground equipment at about the same time the cost of materials at 75 cents per acre would be $75, or a total of $153.

Now, if those meadows and pastures are not sprayed at the same time as the corn and beans, those areas and reinfested and sprayed fields. If the corn and beans are sprayed only three times between now and September 1 (one spraying will last five to seven days) the cost will be considerably more than spraying the whole farm once.

Probably an even bigger cost, too, would be the enormous carry-over of grasshopper eggs into 1955 if nothing is sprayed except the corn and bean fields this year.

Some wonder what they can do when they have only one pasture. It can be divided with an electric fence and one-half sprayed and the other sprayed in two weeks. Some have left their cattle on the sprayed pasture with no apparent ill effects, but certainly dairy cattle, at least, need to be kept off for the full two week period. (The original recommendations have been three weeks.)

Meadows should not be sprayed within two weeks of harvest. The meadow should be cut and then sprayed. Some farmers are leaving the back swath and a narrow strip in the center uncult and then spraying those areas to catch most of the hoppers that have migrated from the rest of the field.

Several questions have been asked about danger to poultry eating poisoned insects. Apparently the only danger is mechanical. That is, the birds might gorge themselves on dead insects which might become "compacted" somewhere in the birds' intestinal tract and cause a stoppage.

A suggestion regarding gardens is to spray around them about once a week. Similarly bait scattered once a week will be fairly adequate. Mr. Kyd reported that "undisturbed" bait (that is, that hadn't been trampled in the dust, etc.) would attract and poison hoppers for 10 days after spreading and did not need to remain moist. "In fact," he said, "in some of the Western states it is actually spread in dry form, mixed only with the dry bran."

Resigned to Loss of Indochina

Allies Feel Large Block of Nation Will Go to Reds; Negotiations Have Gone Too Far for United States To Influence Them; Red China Wants in UN

Editor's Note—How close is the free world to losing out in Southeast Asia? Did Eisenhower and Churchill really settle British-American disputes? What are the United States and Britain really trying to do about Indochina?

A week of frantic diplomacy in Washington produced more sparks than light, more words than information. In the following story, AP diplomatic reporter John M. Hightower looks behind the scenes of the White House meeting and its official statements to report what was really accomplished and what may be expected to happen.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Allied leaders are resigned to losing a great block of Indochina to the Communists.

The shooting war was around Hanoi and peace negotiations between French-led forces and the Communists have gone beyond the point where the United States can influence them decisively.

The issue of Red Chinese bids for recognition and for United Nations membership is expected to press hard upon the heels of any Indochina settlement.

With Moscow needing, this issue promises to make grave trouble among the United States, Britain and France in the fall.

Other forces, too, are working to pull the Western Allies apart despite the emphasis placed here this week on what Sir Winston Churchill called an "unbreakable solidarity."

It is exactly a week now since Churchill flew into Washington by his own request to talk, alongside Foreign Secretary Eden, with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

It has been an intensive week in other ways. Talks on the Southeast Asian crisis have been held by Dulles with Australia's Foreign Minister Richard Casey, New Zealand's Ambassador Leslie Munro and Thailand's foreign minister, Prince Wan Waiyayakon. The situation has been touched upon in official British-American statements.

Air Service For Sedalia Is Considered

Report $110,000 Work Necessary At City Airport

A group of the members of the Sedalia air transportation committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday afternoon at the C. C. Office to discuss the possibility of getting air transportation for Sedalia.

A great deal of investigation has already been made and the means by which other cities have been able to establish air transportation, both passenger and freight, have been looked into. There will be a minimum $110,000 needed to put the municipal airport in proper condition to be considered for an airline, it was stated.

Many angles were brought up as to what might be done and the group decided that the first step would be to make a survey of all industries and business firms of this city to see what air transportation would mean to them and what they would be willing to do to support such a venture.

If the need is great enough, the committee will continue on with the work. It is believed that such transportation will not only benefit industries and businesses already here, but also will be an inducement to bring others to Sedalia.

One of the first questions asked by industrial prospects is about air transportation. Such transportation is most valuable when it is necessary to ship fast or travel fast. Industries find it particularly so when a piece of machinery needs parts and production stops until the part arrives.

The meeting was presided over by Robert Younger, chairman of the Sedalia air transportation committee, which is under the aviation and military affairs committee of which Robert S. Johnson is director.

Attending the meeting were: Claude L. Boul, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Chester A. Brown, executive manager, Robert S. Johnson, John Carroll, Frank Evans, Charles Maggard and Melvin Weisner.

Fills Parole Vacancy Left By Sedalian

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Lewis M. Means, Fayette Democrat, was chosen yesterday by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to be a member of the State Board of Probation and Parole, succeeding E. W. Couey, Sedalia Democrat.

Donnelly also named Charles E. Cates, Kansas City Democrat, as a labor member of the State Industrial Commission. He replaces Frank J. Lahey of St. Louis, whose term expired.

Means, 63, is a former state adjutant general, served six years as a captain during the first years of the State Highway Patrol, was supervisor of rehabilitation centers during World War II and was director of security for the United Nations conference in San Francisco in 1945.

Police Court Fines Reach New Record in June: $2,532

Police Court fines in Sedalia hit a new high in June when $2,532 in cash was handled through the court. The increase is reflected by the arrests of traffic violators in Sedalia for speeding, careless driving, intoxicated driving and other traffic violations.

The previous high month for fines in the Sedalia court was in August, 1953, when $2,354 was collected.

Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors emphasized the Police Department isn't so anxious to collect money through the police court, which all goes into the general fund of the city, but to call attention to the traffic violations which are being made in Sedalia.

"It is noted," Chief Neighbors

There was among officials of the Eisenhower administration an obvious feeling that general relations with Britain are for the moment a little better, but do not show very much improvement in basic ways. There has been no evidence of any gleeful shouting on the part of any of the people who have participated in the extraordinary diplomatic activity.

The situation may best be seen in the light of two or three recent

Plumbers End Strike, Win Salary Hike

New Pay of $2.75 Per Hour Based On Cost of Living

The strike of members of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry of the United States and Canada, Sedalia Local, No. 426, AFL, against the master plumbers shops in Sedalia has been settled. Pickets at the various shops have been removed.

The only shop which was not effected by the strike was the Watkins Heating and Plumbing Co., which did not sign a pact with the other master plumbing shops in Sedalia. The Watkins firm had agreed to the requests of the members of Local 426 and was not bound by the pact agreement among the master plumbers.

The union sought a raise in salary from $2.50, and according to the agreement signed Thursday afternoon at the Hotel Bothwell, the new wage scale will be $2.75 per hour. It is in effect for two years.

It is a cost of living contract based on the cost of living new, national index series. Should the cost of living go up or down after the end of a year 10 points either way, then the wage scale may then be submitted to neutral arbitration.

The settlement was reached after the president of the Sedalia Building Trades Council, R. C. Cowger, and Norbert Brosch, electrician delegate to the council, succeeded in getting the parties involved together for a cross-the-board discussion at lunch at the hotel.

Those attending the meeting were: Neal Reyburn, Elwood Thompson, John Hortor, representing the master plumbers, Bill Wear, Claude Lambirth, John Prine, Bud Bell, representing Local 426, William F. Brown, legal advisor to the union, Cowger and Brosch, who sat as listeners and suggestors to the group.

Parks Ready For Throngs Over Weekend

Attendance Records Expected to Break With Great Crowds

Sedalia's parks, especially Liberty Park and Hubbard Park, are ready for the biggest crowds which have ever massed to them.

This is the expectation of the Sedalia park board, that all records of use of the parks will be broken during the coming July 4th weekend that is being celebrated over a three-day period.

The swimming pools at both of the above named parks will be ready for the thousands who will take a dip. The picnic areas in these, and others, of the city's park system will be available with their many tables and awnings.

Vermont Park is expected to take some of the overflow from Liberty Park this year since it, the newest playground-picnic area in the city, has been put in splendid condition.

John Vandekamp, president of the park board, reports everything is being done to provide for the convenience and safety of all who use the areas. He is asking co-operation of the public to keep the parks clean and safe.

"Please do not throw trash on the ground, but use one of the many containers for trash which are provided in the parks and which are sprayed daily," he asks. He adds that the board is anxious, too, that Sedalians will not take their garbage and throw it in the trash cans in the park, as has been done this summer.

All that is possible is being done to control flies in the parks, Vandekamp said, reporting that the board is consulting regularly with County Agent Merle Vaughan concerning measures to combat the flies.

He stated that spraying of the park, or fogging it, was considered, but that it was found this would be of little or no assistance unless all of the city—especially the areas adjacent to the parks—were likewise treated.

Special entertainment for the 4th is planned at Hubbard Park by the North Side Citizens Association. A swim test, picnicking, games and a free dance are all planned. The dance is to be held at the shelter house.

On Monday night there will be a free dance at Convention Hall in Liberty Park with music by the Whiskered Band from Stover. It is scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Five Armed Men Rob Bank, Net Nearly $50,000

CHICAGO (AP)—Five robbers, armed with a machine gun, shot and pistols, took almost $50,000 in a bold daylight holdup of the Ashland State Bank today.

Bank officials at first estimated the loot at about $25,000, but later reported an audit showed $46,878 was missing.

The gunmen, wearing black stockings with eye-slits over their heads, charged into the bank through a side door a few minutes after opening time, menaced bank employees and then vaulted over counters into the tellers' cages. The robbers were gone within minutes.

The bank, on Chicago's south side at 9443 S. Ashland Ave. is only a short distance from the busy Beverly Hills intersection of 95th Street and Ashland Avenue.

Four gunmen ran into the bank while the fifth stood guard outside with the machinegun.

Peace Treaty Signed

Armas, Monzon Vow Continuing Battle To Stop Communism Within Guatemala

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—Rebel chief Carlos Castillo Armas and government boss Col. Efraim Monzon signed a peace pact here today ending Guatemala's two week-old civil war. They pledged a continuing fight to wipe out communism in that Central American nation.

The treaty provides for a new five-man military junta—guatemalan's fourth government this week—with Monzon as top man, the other members include Castillo and one of his aides and two ministers in Monzon's outgoing regime.

Authoritative sources said this arrangement would continue for 15 days, after which the junta will elect a "permanent" chief.

The agreement was signed at 4:45 a.m. in the ceremonial hall of El Salvador's presidential house before ambassadors and representatives of a dozen countries and the Vatican. It proclaims a total ceasefire in Guatemala.

Castillo's followers invaded their homeland from neighboring Honduras on June 18, vowing to overthrow the Communist supported government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Arbenz resigned last Sunday and a cease-fire followed on Wednesday. The junta which replaced Arbenz after his resignation was in turn replaced by Monzon's group.

In addition to Castillo and Monzon, the new junta will be composed of Maj. Enrique Oliva, defense minister in Castillo's insurrection regime, and two other members of Monzon's government—Foreign Minister Col. Mauricio Dubois and Defense Minister Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar.

Other terms of the agreement provided:

1. Castillo's rebel forces will be incorporated into the regular army ranks for a triumphal entry into Guatemala City.
2. The junta assumes all legislative and executive powers as well as supreme command of the army and will rule by majority decision.
3. The junta will consider whether to abolish or suspend in part the nation's present constitution and Castillo will cancel at once all decrees issued by his provisional regime.
4. New national elections will be called as soon as a new constitution is promulgated.

The new junta reportedly will fly to the Guatemala capital at 11 a.m. tomorrow to take over.

The signing ceremony climaxed two days and nights of negotiations that began early Wednesday. At its conclusion, Monzon and Castillo embraced under a large portrait of Gen. Gerardo Barrios, the George Washington of El Salvador.

Crossroads Comment . . . by G.H.S.

I think non-hobbyists ought to have more tolerance of the mental status of stamp collectors. At least the latter are not such morbid individuals we have been reading about who in past centuries collected severed human heads, such as Mrs. Walter Raleigh, who had Sir Walter's head embalmed and placed in a leather bag. She kept it as long as she lived. Her son inherited the bag.

Speaking of hobbies, here's one to start on—collecting flies at the Liberty Park picnic grounds. Kids could start trading blue ones for green ones, big ones for little ones with maybe a mosquito or two thrown in as an extra pretty.

Indochina's Red River Delta Topples

SINGAPORE (P)—French withdrawal from the southern sectors of the Red River Delta looks like the beginning of the end for that strategic area—and possibly for all of Indochina.

The delta, long regarded by the French and most Western powers as the main bastion against the sweep of communism into the rest of Indochina and Southeast Asia, is crumbling in huge blocks.

The war against the Communist-led Vietnamese, now in its eighth year, may end with a cease-fire giving the rebels northern Indochina as their peace prize, and the French, in either event, may take the area by smashing the French. It is difficult to find anyone who believes that would content Vietnam chief Ho Chi Minh.

Most observers—French, Vietnamese and foreign—are convinced he will have all of Indochina in a very short time, regardless of any line drawn by the Geneva conference, the final chapter is written in the delta.

The French high command says the pull-out from the rich southern areas of the delta region was necessary to strengthen the defenses against an expected "hanoi sea" assault along the Hanoi-Haiphong railroad and highway.

An enclave 64 miles long between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong and less than 30 miles deep on each side of the road and rail line is being bolstered with thousands of French troops. But there seemed little hope the less than 100 French battalions can hold out long even in the enclave against a big Vietnamese attack.

When the Vietnamese hit, they use six to eight Red Chinese trained and equipped divisions, including the four which smashed the French in the battle of Dien Bien Phu. Aiding them will be 100,000 Vietnamese regular, regional and guerrilla soldiers who long have been making it tough for the French to hold onto the delta defenses.

These may be joined by tens of thousands of Vietnamese civilians who never had any love for the French.

Vietnamese officials, bitter over the mass evacuations, were accusing the French of selling out to the Vietnamese.

As the French withdrawal, carried on virtually without fighting, was completed, the Hanoi-Haiphong lifeline, the Hanoi-Haiphong lifeline, was being attacked by Vietnamese troops. They blasted big gaps in the railroad and highway nightly seriously crippling French communications between Hanoi and Haiphong.

Collapse of the delta has come with amazing and stunning swiftness. Less than three weeks ago, the high command in Hanoi announced orders had been received from Paris "to defend all the delta."

The French have said they will hold the Hanoi-Haiphong lifeline, but how long is anybody's guess. It may be just long enough to make the French United Nations troops reach the last beachhead at Haiphong and be evacuated in a new Dunkerque.

Philippines Quake Takes Toll Of 22 Persons

MANILA (P)—At least 22 persons were reported dead and scores were injured today in a strong earthquake which jolted the central Philippines.

The provincial capital of Sorsogon bore the brunt of the quake and a police official there reported 20 persons were dead and enormous property damage. Two others were killed at Legaspi City to the north.

Capt. Isagani Abella, commander of the Sorsogon constabulary garrison radioed police headquarters here:

"Twenty persons believed dead this capital alone. Property damage enormous. Concrete fence around our camp and our radio transmitter station totally wrecked. Our headquarters badly damaged. Eighty per cent of the old buildings in Sorsogon, a city of 26,000, were destroyed, Philippine News Service said. The towering steeples on a Catholic cathedral toppled.

Gives Self Up to Cops To Face Trial

ST. LOUIS (P)—A former mental patient surrendered today on a warrant charging him with the murder of his neighbor, Dr. Cecil A. Z. Sharp, former St. Louis County health commissioner.

Morris said he thought Hermann should be allowed bail and if Stevens refuses to set bail he will seek a writ of habeas corpus. Morris said he had not seen Hermann since yesterday's inquest but that Hermann had told him then he would contact him today.

Police were called in on a dispute between the physician and Hermann four years ago stemming from an argument over property boundaries. Dr. Sharp said Hermann then, 18, had advanced on him with a hammer.

The youth was committed to a hospital at his mother's request, and, after a sanity hearing, was committed to the state mental hospital at Farmington, Mo. He was released about four months later in April 1951 at his mother's request.

Katherine Sharp, testified at the inquest yesterday that Mrs. Marguerite Hermann, mother of the accused man, once told her: "Dr. Sharp is responsible for Tom being hospitalized and if Tom ever found out about this, he would be just too bad."

Dr. Sharp, was killed by a single bullet when he went to a door of his home in suburban Ladue Tuesday night to investigate a disturbance in his yard.

His 16-year-old son, Cecil, who was standing beside him at the time, said the killer fled without saying a word. The Sharp boy was asked at the coroner's inquest whether he could identify Hermann or his 26-year-old brother, James E. Hermann, was the killer. He replied "I can't say."

Mrs. Sharp, her son and a next-door maid all testified they recognized loud, angry voices heard outside the Sharp home just before the shooting as those of members of the Hermann family.

The Hermann brothers appeared at the inquest but refused to testify on the advice of their attorneys.

Dr. Sharp, a native of Carlyle, outside St. Louis area, medical administrator for the welfare and retirement fund of the United Mine Workers of America. His office administrators the fund for a six-state area.

Mundt Opposes Policy Committee Rule Changing

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said today a rules change urged by the Senate Republican Policy Committee for adoption by investigating committees would give the minority "a Russian-type veto."

The rule, one of nine advanced yesterday by the policy group, would give the minority the right to demand a quorum of a committee be present, except that by majority vote a committee could constitute a quorum. A quorum normally consists of one-half the committee membership plus one.

Mundt, who presided over the Senate investigations subcommittee in its televised probe of McCarthy-Army war, said adoption of the proposal would set "a dangerous precedent."

He contended it would "give a Russian-type veto to the minority and provide for government by absenteeism."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), the regular chairman of the investigation subcommittee, was away but he has repeatedly protested against any ban on one-man hearings. He has contended such a rule would play into the hands of Communists and hamper efforts to expose them.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, announced yesterday the group had unanimously approved the nine rules changes which are intended to "assure the rights of witnesses and insure effective action by committees handling investigations."

Enjoy the modern,
the Light
refreshment

Today's Pepsi, reduced in calories, refreshes without filling

NICEST thing about the beaches these days is that the people there seem to feel as good as they look—and they look wonderful!

Full of life, trim of shape, they owe their slender waists and graceful figures mostly to their modern, wholesome diet habits.

They shun the over-rich, the over-heavy. Their taste today is for food and drink that are lighter and less filling.

That's why Pepsi-Cola is more popular than ever. It's kept in step with changing fashions, changing tastes. Today's Pepsi is light, dry (not too sweet), reduced in calories.

How long since you've had a Pepsi-Cola? It's the modern, the light refreshment. Over the Fourth, at the beach, on picnics, at home, refresh without filling, with Pepsi-Cola.

Where Missourians Meet

The West Side Variety is a Missouri institution... just as much a part of Missouri as the grand Missouri State Fair, the Lake of the Ozarks or a luscious country cured Missouri ham.

The hospitality that you receive at the West Side Variety is truly genuine and has that Missouri flavor. The clerks and the management have been raised in true Missouri homes where common courtesy is inbred and fostered. Elderly people and those who have been sick receive just a little more than average recognition.

On the wall at the West Side Variety just behind the checkout counter are two rustic Missouri scenes presented the store by the Missouri Pacific Railroad company.

Just under these two beautiful landscape portrayals are several antique items of real interest... For instance there is an ancient broadaxe, two coffee grinders, two fairly old eight-day wind-up clocks, a rusty cowbell that has made melody in Missouri pastureland in bygone days.

Make it a point to avail yourself of this true Missouri treatment at the West Side Variety. You will like its homey atmosphere, and you'll find most of your vacation needs here.

GROWING SPIRITUALLY

By E. STANLEY JONES

GIVE OUT LOVE TO EVERYBODY
We come to another step in our reactions. Fifth, Keep on growing so that anything derogatory that is said about you will belong to the man who is Dr. Elton Trueblood quotes a contemporary college president who, when asked how he could keep his composure in the face of continual shots fired at him from the students, from professors, from alumni, and from the general public, replied, with a broad and generous smile: "Oh, I just keep moving and let the shots drop behind me."
Sixth, Make it a life attitude to give out love to everybody—good, bad, or indifferent—whether they be friend or foe. This is always safe. "Love never fails," for the giving out of love is the victory. If the person concerned accepts it, then you have won; if he does not accept it, you have also won, for you are the more loving.
Seventh, In everything that happens look for the growing point. Every disturbance can disturb you upward.
Here is what a minister, stricken with polio, said after having seen the possibility of not merely bearing this disability but of using it: "When I found my leg muscles atrophied with paralysis it occurred to me that this was an opportunity to explore the possibilities of Christian faith in personal experience. But how could I be polio?" And then, lying in bed, he said to the following conclusions: 1. I would keep alert for ways in which the polio experience could be used. 2. Few people live over 80 years. Even this is such a short span that time itself limits the occupations one can pursue, the experiences he can have, and the good he can do. 3. Paralysis arbitrarily limits me. Nevertheless, if I had to spend the rest of my life in bed, there are still so many possibilities open to me that I would not have time to explore them all, even if I did live 80 years. 4. Why give any thought, then, to those things that were beyond the limits of my physical powers? 5. I would replace such negative thoughts by devising ways to do things that are within my scope. He reacted constructively to polio and made polio into power.
O Jesus, Thou who didst take all that came and didst make it into something else, help me to do the same. Amen.
AFFIRMATION FOR THE DAY: Everything that comes today shall be grist for my Kingdom mill.

Sunday School Lesson Notes

WHAT HAPPENED TO 'LOST TEN TRIBES'?
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Though I once read much of his literature, I was never deeply impressed with the cult of Anglo-Israel, which has had many enthusiastic followers.
Though I think the evidence is unconvincing, it would be rather pleasant to believe that the tragic downfall of a Kingdom of Israel, eight centuries before Christ, and the dispersion of its people, with the kingdom never to be re-established, had its issue in the far-off west in the rise of the vigorous Anglo-Saxons.

A friend, who was once engaged in extensive archeological excavations in Egypt, told me once that he found in Ireland articles that must have come there from the ancient east. (The migration of peoples in the ages when transportation was slow are almost beyond belief.)
But there is still the question: Where did the "Lost Ten Tribes" of Israel go, if the Anglo-Israelites have not the answer?
One thing is certain: Stark and terrible tragedy wiped out a kingdom that had been established in opportunity and hope. In 722 B. C., Shalmaneser, king of Assyria, conquered Samaria after a three-year siege, dispersed its people, and established his own people in their place.

Yet it was in revolt against oppression that the Kingdom of Israel, of the Ten Tribes, had arisen. The oppression was part of that of King Solomon, though the rebellion did not break out until after Solomon's death, when Rehoboam, Solomon's son, came to the throne of a then united Israel.

Rehoboam, as is well known, promised the people only heavier burdens. "My father chastised you with whips; I'll chastise you with scorpions."
Down in Egypt there was a man called Jeroboam, who formerly had rebelled unsuccessfully against Solomon, and then fled for his life. Now he returned and led a successful revolt of the Ten Tribes against Rehoboam, while two other tribes remained in the Southern Kingdom of Judah.

What an opportunity Jeroboam had! But he was no more successful in power than he had been in his original revolt, and in his moral downfall he was succeeded by corrupt and evil kings, among them the notorious Ahab, with his wicked Jezabel.

The Northern Kingdom lasted for a scant two hundred years, and 136 years later the Southern Kingdom fell, and its people were carried off in exile to Babylon.

The glorious return from that exile is described in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah.
Why should one read, or dwell upon, the story? Because the Bible story is full of instruction and warning. It is the story of what happens when oppression and injustice prevail, and people turn from wholesome living and the call of God to corrupt and evil ways.

And, in glory and tragedy, the story of Israel goes on. Even today the mills of God are grinding among the nations, with invitation and yearning, but with the discipline of judgment.

Merry-Go-Round Mrs. Roosevelt's Visit to Russia Will Cause Political Headaches

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Here's the inside story of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's trip to Russia. The trip was proposed by Look publisher Gardner Cowles, who last year made a deal with Adlai Stevenson to report on a trip around the world. Adlai, however, visited no iron curtain countries.

Mrs. Roosevelt's first reaction was: "I don't think I'll ever get a visa. I've had so many set-backs with the Russians in the United Nations, I don't think they'll let me in."

But application was made—for her, plus a secretary, plus Look's European editor, William Atwood.

The visas came through for the two ladies—but not for Editor Atwood. There was no rejection of visa—just no answer. Cowles cabled U. S. Ambassador "Chip" Bohlen in Moscow, who put pressure on the foreign office. Mrs. Roosevelt wrote to the Soviet ambassador in Washington. No response to either.

Apparently the Soviets suspect Atwood was being tied to Mrs. Roosevelt's apron strings for the unwelcome purpose of writing a series of articles of his own.

Atwood will not go. Mrs. Roosevelt—who will be 70 years old this year—took off without any male assistance. She left under assurance that she will be allowed to travel widely through the country.

Note—For arranging the junket, Look has already received several cancellations of subscriptions, while Democratic politicians who want to promote the future of Franklin Roosevelt Jr., aren't happy.

Backstage McCarthy Hassle

Top Republicans are still hassling over the most important topic inside the party: what to do about Joe McCarthy and whether to use him in the coming election campaign.

GOP Congressman Dick Simpson of Pennsylvania highlighted the back-stage conflict when he stated this week that McCarthy would speak where wanted. This went directly contrary to the wishes of the White House, but like doesn't seem to have much influence with the party bosses these days.

Significantly both pro-McCarthyites and anti-McCarthyites inside GOP strategy councils are citing the Maine senate race to prove their point. Anti-McCarthyite Republicans cite the thumping 5-to-1 victory of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith over a McCarthy—picked candidate to show that Joe has lost his political oomph. Pro-McCarthyites quote the Associated Press that Jones' landslide defeat in Maine "couldn't be labeled that for McCarthy" for he "was never a real concrete issue through the course of the campaign."

However, the AP, sometimes charged by editors with leaning over in McCarthy's direction, didn't dig into the main facts. Here is the real political record which the people of Maine knew about when they voted and which, regardless of the AP, shows that McCarthy was up to his eyebrows in the Maine race:

Maine Facts—In August last year Senator McCarthy phoned Ex-Senator Brewster of Maine to ask whether he or anyone else would run against Mrs. Smith. Brewster said he didn't think anyone would want to try. McCarthy observed that there was lots of out-of-state money to support anyone who would run against the lady . . . Aug. 25, Lee Mortimer reported in the Portland Express that Senator McCarthy would go into Maine to beat Mrs. Smith. (Mrs. Smith had once circulated the "declaration of conscience" against him.) . . . Sept. 1, Robert L. Jones, on the staff of Senator Potter of Michigan, started traveling with McCarthy's one-man subcommittee, presumably representing Potter. McCarthy gave him the right to ask questions of witnesses, which is not the right of a senatorial observer . . . In November, young Jones was taken by McCarthy to the Fort Monmouth hearings, where Jones made a statement to the press about apparent Signal Corps espionage. Senatorial observers are not supposed to talk to the press, and this was an obvious build-up for Jones.

Jones Strategy—November 12, McCarthy went further and embraced Lloyd Stover, the man who became campaign manager for Jones. Stover was then a lobbyist for the American Trucking Association, but McCarthy invited him to go to New York to help investigate General Electric. Jones also went along . . . Nov. 13, McCarthy arrived in Portland, accompanied by Jones and Stover . . . Nov. 14, McCarthy spoke before VFW with Jones and Stover much in the spotlight . . .

Nov. 15, McCarthy gave a repeat performance in Bangor, again with Jones and Stover in evidence . . . The first week of January a group gathered at Stover's apartment in Washington at night to talk about Jones' candidacy. It was agreed that McCarthy would hold hearings, preferably in Maine so Jones could cross-question witnesses. Seven thousand dollars more was to be raised to get Stover's name around the state, so later he could run for congress. McCarthy was to give advice from the sidelines.

Jones Denies—Jan. 25, Jones issued a press release that he did not intend to run for the senate. This followed exposure by this writer of his aforementioned secret strategy . . . Feb. 22 Jones announced his candidacy. He told newsmen McCarthy would help him and would speak for him in Sanford and Lewiston on March 6 and 7. Next day McCarthy admitted he had a speaking engagement in Maine on March 7, said he was canceling because of laryngitis . . . Feb. 25, McCarthy and Jones' campaign manager Stover were seen conferring in the Carroll Arms Hotel in Washington . . . When the campaign first started, Jones made McCarthyism an issue. He was for it . . . But as the Army-McCarthy hearings progressed, Jones played down McCarthy more and more, though he continued aping McCarthy's mannerisms . . . hard as he tried to play McCarthy down, however, the people of Maine remembered. They knew the early antecedents of the Jones candidacy.

So, the Associated Press to the contrary, McCarthy was an issue in Mrs. Smith's landslide re-election, and that is something GOP campaign advisers are pondering carefully.

Be Careful in Sun, Avoid Sunstroke, Heat Exhaustion

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

With the sun in the northern hemisphere beginning to reach its greatest strength it seems advisable to say a word about sunstroke and heat exhaustion, both of which come from too much exposure to the sun or the effects of excessive heat.

Both are serious conditions and it is far better to prevent than to treat them.

In serious sunstroke or heat stroke there is a complete loss of consciousness. The face develops a peculiar red flush and the skin is hot and dry.

Fever, sometimes up to 109 or more, may be present. Both the pulse and breathing are abnormal. It is a highly dangerous condition.

If the victim can be kept alive for two days recovery is probable. However, one attack increases the susceptibility to heat in the future.

In sunstroke, the normal methods which the body has of maintaining its heat regulation seem to be entirely upset. It calls for prompt and even radical treatment.

Heat exhaustion is a less severe reaction to hot sun or excessive heat. It is related to sunstroke and shades gradually into the more serious condition.

However, most physicians differentiate between heat exhaustion and sunstroke because the latter is so much more dangerous.

In heat exhaustion, the principal symptoms are dizziness, excessive sweating, decrease in the amount of urine, a feeling of great weakness, paleness and a rapid pulse rate and breathing rate.

Generally speaking, people do not become unconscious with heat exhaustion.

Sometimes muscles of the abdomen or the ribs develop pain of a cramp-like nature. The mouth temperature is likely to be below normal or only slightly raised.

Heat exhaustion tends to come on much more slowly than sunstroke; headache, loss of appetite, constipation and muscular weakness may precede for several days the development of characteristic symptoms.

Rest in a cool place for quite a long time may be enough to take care of heat exhaustion but other measures are often necessary.

Republican Communists

WASHINGTON — Richard Harkness, NBC commentator, got a telephone call from an irate woman listener the other evening.

He had just finished a broadcast in which he had said that Senator McCarthy might be doing a disservice to the Eisenhower administration if he did not report immediately to Central Intelligence Director J. Edgar Hoover any knowledge he might have about Communists in the government.

The woman listener said she disagreed, and that Senator McCarthy should not turn over the names.

Harkness started to reason with her. "Look," he said. "You don't think Allen Dulles would keep any known Communists in CIA, do you?"

"I certainly do," she said.

Patience, Harkness tried again. "You don't think President Eisenhower would keep any Communists working for him, do you?" he asked. "The President would fire them immediately," he assured her.

And then, to Mr. Harkness' burning ears there came back the reply, "Not if they were Republican Communists."

Best Seller

Speaking of salesmanship, the 20-cent "Infant Care" pamphlet still remains the No. 1 best-seller on the list of the thousands of publications of the U. S. Government Printing Office.

Since it was first issued by the U. S. Children's Bureau in 1913, over nine million copies of "Infant Care" have been sold. It has been run through eight editions and has been revised for every reprint.

Other best-sellers on the GPO list are: "Parental Care," over four million copies; "Your Child From One to Six," over three million copies, and "Your Child From Six to Twelve," one million.

Blackout the Big 'If'

Rep. Dwight L. Rogers, (D-Fla.) has introduced a resolution in the House to prohibit television broadcasts of all congressional hearings. In making his proposal, Representative Rogers said: "It is not a healthy situation for our people to daily look upon the recent 'show' and conclude that all such workings of congressional committees are carried on in any such manner."

When Sam Rayburn of Texas was Speaker of the House," says Representative Rogers, "he refused to admit the television of committee hearings. His wisdom in so doing has been demonstrated most forcibly by what has been displayed in the Army-McCarthy hearings in the past eight weeks."

Big Game Hunter

After President Eisenhower finished speaking to the National Citizens for Eisenhower conference in Washington, another speaker got in a few words which drew wild applause from the enthusiastic Ike supporters.

As James L. Murphy, chairman of the national citizens' group started to say something over the mike, a booming voice broke in demanding: "Wait a minute, Jim. Let's all say who we want for President in 1956."

Everyone cheered. The man who had made the suggestion was Eisenhower's most ardent fan—Marty Synder, General Eisenhower's mess sergeant in World War II. Marty is the fellow who staged that famous one-man demonstration for Eisenhower at Chicago in 1948.

Now he's supposed to have political ambitions of his own. He wants to run for Congress in New York's 20th district.

The incumbent congressman is Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

Tree Snake

Whipsnakes are clumsy and awkward on the ground, but they are very much at home in trees. Their slender bodies blend in with the branches and make them difficult to see. Many a lizard or other small creature has felt their fangs when

The World Today— The U.S. Dilemma of 1954

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Twenty-five years from now—if by then the Communist wave has receded or is lapping at American shores—the cause may be traced back to this country's decision, or lack of it, on its dilemma of 1954.

The dilemma is what to do about the Communist threat in Southeast Asia where the French, in Indochina, are melting under the torrid drive of the Communist-led Vietminh.

What decision has this country made so far? None. It is going to plan with the British and other Allies for united action in Southeast Asia against the Communists if they—

If they do what? Nobody knows. At this moment the United States doesn't seem to know whether a line will have to be drawn in Indochina against the Communists, or perhaps outside Indochina because that country couldn't be defended any longer.

There is even no certainty that a line will ever be drawn or that the Allies will in fact ever act together, or separately, to keep Southeast Asia out of communism.

Indochina has three states: Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia. The fighting between French and the Vietminh is in Viet Nam. The French are being smashed. They may be forced to yield all of Viet Nam unless the Allies intervene. There is no sign the Allies have any such intention.

If Viet Nam falls to the Communists, Laos and Cambodia may fall next unless the Allies step in and tell the Communists: "No further." There's no sign they intend to do that either.

Once the Communists got Indochina, they could pump supplies across the border to help revolutionary Communists in neighboring states like Burma and Thailand. Just as China helped the Vietminh.

The lack of decision by America and its allies stirred Sen. Knowland and California yesterday. Knowland, the Republican leader in the Senate, had urged the United States to bomb China during the Korean War.

Less than a month ago he said the United States will have to "face up to the fact" it may have to fight in Indochina. Yesterday looking at Viet Nam slowly falling to the Communists and little being done to stop it, he said:

"Where do we go from here? How many more Communist victories must be gained in Asia before the free world recognizes the danger?"

He continued: Will the non-Communist countries cling to their feeling it is not worth the risk of fighting when it comes to Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Burma, Malaya, India, Pakistan, Formosa, Japan, Indonesia, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand?

When the crisis came in Indochina—although all year the Eisen-

The Mighty MILO

by Phillips Rogers

Copyright 1954 by Humminger House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service

I WAS working in the produce department of a supermarket to make a little money before I went to college. In comes this short, fat character. He shops around for a while, then walks toward me.

It was summer, but he was wearing a heavy gray sweater with a turtle neck that rolled up to his chin. He had on shiny black pants and walked flat-footed, as though he had kidney feet. He didn't have a hat on and his head was shaved and shaped like the pointed end of an egg. He looked to be a little over five feet tall and just about as thick through.

But it wasn't his strange appearance or funny build that I first noticed. It was the way he was sweating. No wonder he's sweating, I thought, him wearing that heavy sweater. Later I learned he always sweated like that, no matter what he was wearing or how hot or cold it was.

He was pushing one of those baskets on wheels. He stopped it in front of me and said something that sounded like "Pliz."

I took out the stuff he had collected, put it in bags, and marked the prices. There was a hand of bananas, a package of dried figs, a bag of English walnuts, a head of lettuce, and four of the three-for-a-quarter apples. I remember so well because that's what he always bought, afterward.

Sometimes he'd go to the food department first and there'd be a couple quarts of milk and a round box of oatmeal in the basket, along with the produce.

After the second or third time I got sore about the apples. "Say, mister, why don't you get three or six apples? Getting four when they're three for a quarter don't make much sense. Especially when you get them every day."

He didn't answer, but reached into the basket and picked up all four apples in one hand and put them on the counter in front of me. Now three-for-a-quarter apples are big apples. I could pick up three of them, but not four, not even when I arranged them just right in the basket.

He stood there looking at me and I noticed his eyes. They were big and brown, with an expression like you'd see on a hurt dog. He looked as if he was about to say something and I asked, "Is there anything else?" but he shook his head and pushed his basket toward the cashier.

THE manager and the other clerks began to kid me about my new customer. They called him "grease ball" and "egg

It was summer, but he was wearing a heavy gray sweater with a turtle neck that rolled up to his chin.

head," but I didn't mind. I noticed the manager began to check closely on the prices I marked on Milo's bag, as he always did when one of us got a steady customer. Suspicious, always thinking you'd pull a fast one.

To get back to Milo, although I still didn't know his name then. Funny thing, I got to liking him, although all he ever said was "Pliz," and all I said was about those apples.

One day the truck was late and there was a big produce shipment. I was working automatically, thinking, I'd had a bid from one college to play football, but it didn't have a wrestling team, or I could go to Lehigh, which was strong on wrestling, but didn't do much for his athletes.

SUDDENLY I realized that Milo was watching me. I was about finished anyway and put down the crates of oranges I was carrying. While I was taking things from the basket, I noticed that those soft, womanish eyes of his held an odd expression. At last he's working himself up to talk, I thought, and I was right.

I said, "If you'd get six of those three-for-a-quarter apples, I wouldn't have to figure out each time how much one costs and how much that 25 adds up to."

He stood there, working his jaws and lips. Finally he stuck a thumb of his huge right hand against the gray sweater, about where he bulged out most. "Rassler, me. Greece, me. Milo, me." His voice was soft and light—almost girlish, like his eyes.

It was the longest speech he had made to me and he was worn out after it. The sweat fountained down into the turtle neck of his sweater. I realize now that it wasn't only the effort of talking English. He was waiting for me to laugh, which I did.

as I've always been sorry since. That's what happened every time Milo told anybody that he was a wrestler. Even the idea of that little fat man in wrestling tights was funny.

I could see that I had hurt his feelings, so I said, "I wrestle some, too. What say you and me work out together sometime?" His eagerness was pathetic. His lips and jaw worked again while he tried to find words. "You mean? Is true?"

"Sure. There's a mat at the Y gym. I work out there nights." "This night? Milo, me, work rest'n. Fl'to ni'. Ni' too late?"

THE way he hissed his eses and cut off the ends of some words made it hard to understand him, but I caught on. "No, mine isn't too late," I said. I thought I was being pretty nice to the poor grease ball.

"Okay," I said. "I have a new book on wrestling. We'll try some holds."

"No rassle um book. Milo teach. Me there." He held out his hand and I took it. I had a good grip for a kid of 20. Sometimes I'd try it out on someone to see him wince, and maybe I did on Milo. If so, he didn't notice. I learned how to wrestle. There was a sharp crunching of bones and then a numbness.

You won't believe me, but after he'd gone I tried to pick up an orange in that hand and I couldn't hold it. The manager of the produce department bawled me out for spending so much time with one customer and because I'd only charged 32 cents for the four three-for-a-quarter apples, but I hardly paid him any mind. I was so busy wondering if I'd got myself in for more than I expected.

Odds and Ends

The poor forlorn looking little stray dog was soaking wet and the little girl felt so sorry, she wanted to bring him into the house.

Mother finally consented and the little girl put papers down all around so the dog wouldn't get the floor wet and everything was all right until father got home. About that time the little dog began to scratch, and that was enough. Rain or no rain, the dog had to go. Well, it was father's idea but certainly not the dog's. He had just got himself a little dry and was very comfortable, that is except when he itched and had to scratch.

He liked the place, he liked the people and he felt it would be a very good place to stay.

Father tried to coax him out, he didn't want to touch the itchy little dog, but the dog had no intention of going. Out in the pouring down rain stood the father calling, whistling, coaxing and getting wetter and wetter, and madder, but the dog refused to budge. It took force, and fleas or no fleas, itch or no itch father had to get the dog out of the house. He went in, dripping all over the papers that had been put little fellow and put him back out in the rain. And so, after such a short time of paradise the poor little pup went back to leading a dog's life—H. L.

French Flee 5 Fortified Delta Cities

HANOI, Indochina. — The French announced today their troops have "successfully completed" evacuation of five fortified cities and 2,000 square miles of populous rice land in the south of the Red River delta.

Most of the thousands of soldiers involved in the massive withdrawal already have taken up defense positions farther north around Hanoi, an army spokesman said.

Vietminh efforts to disrupt the movement were beaten off with only a few French soldiers killed, he said, and there was "almost no loss of ammunition, vehicles or guns."

(In Singapore, Associated Press Correspondent Larry Allen, who recently left Indochina after two years, reported yesterday that the windup of the operation would leave more than half of the strategic Red River delta in control of the Communist-led Vietminh and put an additional four million Vietnamese under the Red flag.)

The major centers abandoned to the rebels were Nam Dinh, Ninh Binh, Phat Diem, Lac Quan and Thai Binh. They spread in an arc 50 to 75 miles south and southeast of the French headquarters city of Hanoi.

The new southern front in the Red River lowlands runs a wavy line from south of Phu Ly, 30 miles south of Hanoi, eastward to the seacoast. The line is parallel with and about 25 miles south of the railway and highway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong. The French must defend this "lifeline" route to the last, as it is the only supply line and escape corridor for the tens of thousands of French Union troops in North Indochina.

One of the richest prizes to go to the Vietminh in the French evacuation was the six-million-dollar cotton spinning mill at Nam Dinh, the largest textile factory in Indochina.

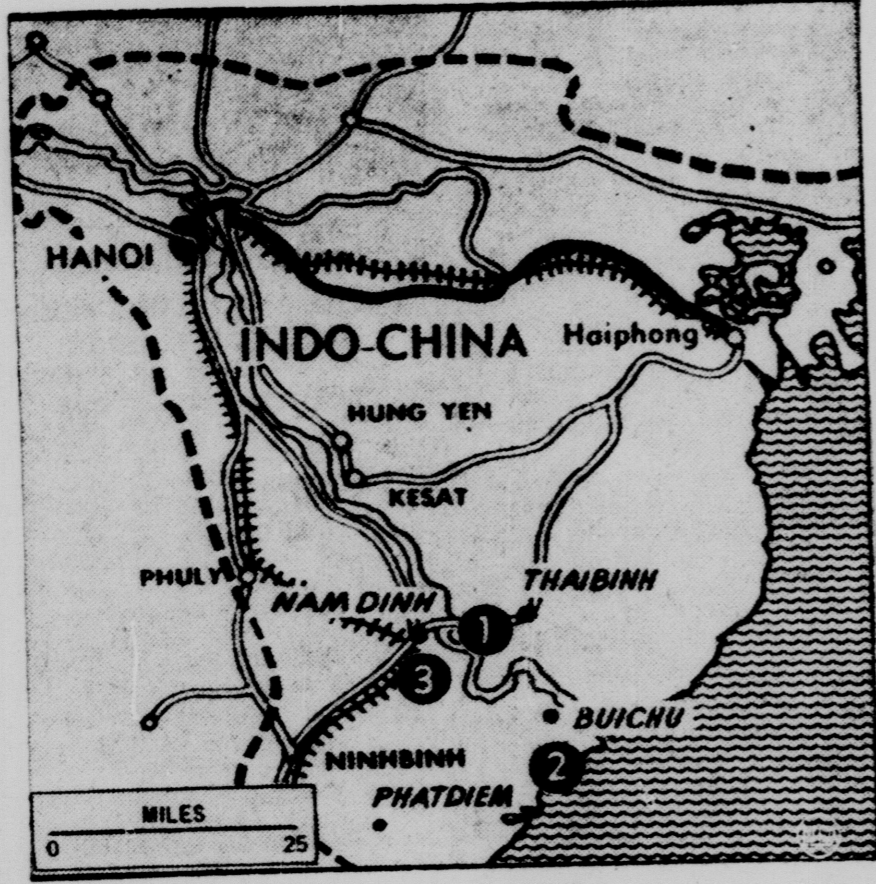

Hundreds of shops and other businesses run by French civilians and wealthy Vietnamese were abandoned as thousands of persons fled along with the army garrisons. The evacuated area, strongly Roman Catholic, was a main center of local resistance to the Communists. A French spokesman acknowledged that it was a "very difficult decision" to leave these "people who had been on our side" to the mercy of the Vietminh. He asserted, however, that the southern zone was hard to defend because its swampy terrain slowed French mobile units and it was "infested from end to end with infiltrators and guerrillas."

Well-Known Tobacco Auctioneer Is Dead

ROBERTSONVILLE, N. C. — F. E. Boone Sr., the man who made familiar to America the chant of the tobacco auctioneer, died at his home yesterday.

The 61-year-old Winchester, Ky., native had spent 40 years as a tobacco auctioneer and gentleman farmer. He died of heart disease. He appeared in live broadcasts of a national network from 1937 to 1951, performing the auctioneer's chant.

EVACUATE RED RIVER DELTA TOWNS—According to Gov. Nguyen Huu Tri, thousands of Vietnamese civilians have pulled up stakes and evacuated the lower Red River Delta in Indochina. Towns evacuated by the civilians are Nam Dinh and Thai Binh (1) and Buichu (2). The Vietminh was reported set back near Ninh Binh (3). The dotted line represents the area still held by French forces. ## Piedras Negras Folk Never Thought River Would Move In PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. — Emilio Sandoval sat slumped in a straight-backed chair in the doorway of his ruined hotel. He rubbed the three-day stubble of black and gray on his jaw and glanced back at the bare room, at the warped boards cluttering the stone floor, at the five-foot water mark on the walls.

"You will forgive me, please, if I don't get up," he said. His clenched fist made a circular motion over the pit of his stomach. "I am upset by this," he said. "I have a bad feeling in here."

Monday night Sandoval had been hurrying to clear the lobby of his hotel before flood waters moved in. He was trapped in the hotel when the rising water took a sudden surge.

"I never thought to see it happen," he said. "Nothing like it ever happened before — to see the water racing down that street."

That is why Sandoval is like most of the living and the dead in Piedras Negras — they never thought to see it happen.

Now the border sun bakes the caked mud in the streets and shimmers off the foul waters still standing in many places. There is no water system left in the town of some 35,000 across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass. Children squat and scoop water out of the streets to quench their thirst, and old women bending double to wash their clothing in the pools bring it up coated with slime.

Across the border south Texans have gathered up donations of food and a helicopter assigned to the Red Cross by Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Tex., brings it across, trip after trip. But the only distribution system is to pile the food in pickup trucks and drive it to camps that sprawl squalidly over the hills around town.

Mexican authorities bring in tank trucks full of pure water from inland towns but there isn't enough to go around.

Cpl. Donald Lange Released by Army

Cpl. Donald E. Lange, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil G. Lange, 1838 South Warren, has arrived home after receiving his release from the army.

Upon entering the service in June, 1952, he took his 15 weeks' basic training in the anti-aircraft artillery replacement training center, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Completing basic training, he was assigned overseas duty in Korea, where he served for eight months on the eastern front as a forward observer with B. Battery of the 1st Field Artillery Observation Group.

Since returning from Korea last September, he has served with the 9th anti-aircraft Artillery Gun Battalion, Ft. Bliss, from where he has received his release. He expects to enter college again in September.

Stairs to Trouble

Woman Won't Agree To Separation Until Husband Mows Lawn

CLEVELAND. — Mrs. Wanda Cholewa, 35, got a home custody of her three children and $28 a week for their support.

But until her husband had the lawn mowed she refused to sign a separation agreement for a divorce.

"He has a power mower," she told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick. "He took it with him when he left last February."

Her husband Leo, 32, a forging company foreman, wanted no part of the lawn cutting. It was two acres of land and she had the house. Let her mow the grass, he contended.

Finally, to end the stalemate, Judge Merrick suggested that Cholewa give her $100 to have the job done. He consented and Mrs. Cholewa signed the agreement. The divorce was granted on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Rio Grande Back in Banks With Its Dead

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP)—The Rio Grande was back in its banks today, its receding waters carrying the secret of how many dead and leaving mounds of foul, disease-breeding mud.

Hidden in the muck and in the draining waters was the answer to whether the best available figures—62 dead, 90 to 400 missing—fall short of the truth.

President Eisenhower declared the stricken borderland eligible for disaster loans. Gov. Allan Shivers' own state disaster task force flew to the border to work with the federal people. The Red Cross, the Salvation Army and individuals had little rest.

Clothing, food, medicine and money were on the way.

The need was greatest across the river in Piedras Negras, whose announced toll of 38 dead and 90 missing may be a mockery. One Mexican army major said the dead there may number more than 400.

Nuevo Laredo, sister Mexican city of Laredo, Tex., counted its first dead—the bodies of five members of a family identified only as Gomez. They were recovered yesterday.

Mexican pride prevented delivery of aid which the United States was anxious to send across the river. Apparently protocol demands a formal request from the Mexicans. The request was not forthcoming, although everyone here knew food, medicine, water and technical help was needed in Piedras Negras.

Disorganization reduced the effectiveness of such help as the U.S. delivered. Food, medicine, food ferried over by helicopter was distributed by truck to the outstretched hands of the hungry.

Small Town Wangles Sunday Mail Service

SEVEN SPRINGS, N.C. (AP)—Sunday mail service will be resumed here July 18.

In what the Post Office Department described as an economy measure, the service was suspended last month.

Then the townspeople got together and raised $156, the annual cost of the service, which they sent to Washington.

It was returned today, along with a letter from F. B. Davis, District mail supervisor at Norfolk, Va., reinstating the service.

Quake Claims Lives of Nine In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A strong earthquake jolted the central Philippines today, centering in southern Luzon, where nine persons were reported dead and at least 14 injured.

Philippine News Service, which reported the casualties, said the provincial capital of Sorsogon was hardest hit.

Seven were reported killed there and two in Legaspi City to the north.

Eighty per cent of the old buildings in Sorsogon, a city of 25,000, were destroyed, Philippine News Service said. The towering steeple on a Catholic cathedral toppled.

Communications with Luzon, on the southeastern tip of the area, were disrupted. Major reports were relayed here from a ship in Sorsogon harbor.

Huge landslides were reported between Sorsogon and Albay province to the north.

The Philippine Red Cross office here said field reports described the quake as the strongest ever to hit Sorsogon province, a rich copra producing region of almost 300,000 persons. It reportedly lasted 80 seconds.

Red Cross teams flew to the area.

Juggler Ignores Fear Of Animals In Try To Save Lion Tamer

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Eric Drosdsky is a circus juggler who is scared of animals. But last night he leaped into the lion cage and fought desperately for the life of a trainer.

William Coetzee, his best friend, was killed. Women screamed and fled from the tent when one of the six performing lions turned on Coetzee as he was putting the animal through its paces. As all six lions pounced, Drosdsky rushed into the ring. With a chair, he tried to draw the raging beasts toward himself.

The lions clawed the trainer. Then they charged the juggler until ringmaster Dennis Wood joined him with a club. Together they held the beasts at bay and dragged Coetzee out.

The trainer, badly mauled, died three hours later. Drosdsky, meanwhile, had gone on with his own juggling act.

Robert Ryan Feels Hollywood Should Shun Some Persons

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A man is judged by the company he keeps, figures Robert Ryan, and the same goes for Hollywood.

Ryan, one of the screen's solid citizens, today lashed out at some of his fellow townspeople for attaching themselves to figures who bring bad publicity to Hollywood. For instance, Porfirio Rubirosa, the 20th-century Don Juan.

"I think a guy like that should be shunned when he comes to Hollywood," said Ryan, an ex-Marine who speaks plainly and has muscles to back up his statements. "Instead, people rush for the opportunity to throw him cocktail parties and receptions."

He said the loathario's current amour, Zsa Zsa Gabor, hasn't profited from the headlines. Her film salary is still small.

"And that's just what she's worth, as far as ability is concerned," he said.

"During my career, I've often wondered if I shouldn't go after the more sensational stuff," he said. "Every actor thinks about it, especially those who are 'dull copy' like myself. I have a wife and family and lead a very quiet life. I've never been in any scandal."

"It's just as well nothing like that ever happened to me. After all, you have to live with yourself. And I'm convinced that scandals don't help a career, despite thinking to the contrary."

"I've done a lot of traveling on the road in the past few years, talking to theater men and ordinary citizens all over the country. I found out that Rita Hayworth's career was actually hurt at the time of her romance with Aly Khan."

"I don't know about Bob Mitchell, but I imagine he was hurt during his scandal. Afterwards? Well, that's a different matter. People have short memories."

He observed that Hollywood has changed in recent years, advancing somewhat favorably in the direction of respectability. This is a good thing, he said.

Unrest After King Is Kicked Off Throne

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—What happens when a king is kicked off his throne? Here in Uganda, in the heart of tropical Africa, it has spelled trouble.

Unrest simmers under the surface since the ouster last Nov. 30 of Kabaka (King) Mutesa II in Buganda, most important of Uganda's four provinces.

Thus far the British officials who run this colonial protectorate have kept developments in hand. A new state of emergency was declared May 31 to enable stronger police action against a crime wave and to stop strong-arm efforts by natives to back up a boycott of Western goods.

Sir Keith Hancock, a British constitutional expert named by the Colonial Office, has come here to see what can be done. He may remain until September.

The British government and Sir Andrew Cohen, Uganda's governor, say the Kabaka will not return. Cohen kicked him out because he demanded independence.

The Kabaka, as a result, has become a martyr, even though he enjoyed only lukewarm support from some groups before.

Now the Buganda Legislature, called the Great Lukiko, has pledged its unanimous loyalty to him. The Lukiko meets regularly but the Kabaka's throne, at the head of the chamber, is vacant. The throne is on a dais covered with a score of lion and leopard skins. The 30 royal drums are stilled too.

Selassie Is Found In Perfect Health

NEW YORK (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has been found in "perfect health" by doctors at Presbyterian Hospital.

The monarch left the hospital yesterday after a general checkup. He's been in the United States for the past four weeks.

The troubles of Uganda are known as the pearl of Africa because of its rich soil — trace to hints made last year that the Colonial Office had in mind the idea of an East African federation, comprising Uganda, Kenya and Tanganyika. Native leaders wanted none of this. It didn't fit their ideas of an eventual African state. They were afraid more white settlers would come to Uganda. Now there are fewer than 7,000 whites among more than five million blacks. They were especially fearful of the white settlers from Mau Mau — threatened Kenya, across the border.

Virginia Cops Begin Using Radar to Catch Speeders on Highways

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia state police officially used radar as a method of checking speeds for the first time yesterday and 41 motorists were given tickets for speeding.

Use of radar to catch speeders was legalized by the 1954 Virginia Legislature.

Signs on Barrels Prove Inaccurate

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies didn't believe the signs on the barrels hidden in woods near here. So they went ahead and tested the barrels' contents. It was mash — the kind used to make liquor. The signs read: "Poison—Cotton Molasses."

Big Traffic Jam Expected on 4th

Colonel High Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, warns that the greatest Fourth of July traffic jam in history is predicted for this year's holiday. Estimates by the National Safety Council and traffic officials are that approximately forty million vehicles will roll over more than five billion miles over the holiday period.

Colonel Waggoner said that Missouri Highway Patrol officers would be scouring the highways with the aid of patrol planes to apprehend careless drivers. He said every effort would be made to take the careless and speed-crazed driver off the highways.

Mouths Give Trouble

DES MOINES AP—Tooth disease is more widespread than any other ailment of mankind except the common cold, Dr. Leslie M. Fitzgerald, Dubuque, Iowa, president of the American Dental Assn., says.

He estimates it would take 280 million fillings to fix all the cavities of children 6 to 13 years old in the United States and that 97 per cent of the population suffers from some form of tooth decay or gum disease.

Colonel Waggoner cautions all drivers to allow more than the usual amount of time for their trip and to reduce their usual speed at least 10 miles an hour. Unless every precaution is taken, he warns, many holiday vacationers will not live to tell of it.

Southeast Asia

incidents. On March 29 the American government, through a speech by Dulles, issued an emergency call for "united action" to halt Communist expansion in Southeast Asia. Privately, officials were talking in terms of intervention in the Indochina war.

France and Britain were cool. In mid-April Dulles flew to London and Paris. On his return home, he thought he had agreed to have a conference and began drawing up a 10-nation Southeast Asian pact. A bitter controversy with Eden arose when the British blocked his plans for a meeting a few days in advance of the Geneva conference. Britain wanted no part of such a move before Geneva. She promised to explore it when peace negotiations were ended.

Since that time U. S. policy has been stymied. For various reasons it proved impossible to set up an alliance without Britain. A few weeks ago it appeared that Geneva would fall to get peace. But then a French government upheaval and certain Communist maneuvers caused the British, French and others to take more hope. Meanwhile, Churchill had sent word he wanted to come to Washington.

Also, five Asian countries—Indonesia, India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon—met at Colombo and discussed the twin problems, as they see them, of Western colonialism and international communism. They tended to split between the Western and Communist sides.

Just before coming to Washington, Eden suggested a nonaggression system which would involve Western countries and Red China in guarantees to secure the safety of Indochina. This was an obvious bid for Britain for the support of India and if possible, Indonesia—countries the British knew would never join in a Southeast Asian anti-Communist pact.

Another development parallel with the Churchill talks here was the visit of Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai, to Pandit Nehru on his way home from Geneva.

In all these matters initiative seemed to rest with the French in trying to get an Indochina peace with the British in trying to find a new approach to the Asian problem, and with Red China in trying to woo Nehru out of his chosen neutrality into a friendly attitude toward Beijing.

Some of the nations most friendly to the United States in the Southwest Pacific-Southeast Asia area are distressed by the way things have gone. The recently re-elected Australian government has hardened its position on Southeast Asia and now is urging action much faster than is Britain. New Zealand seems to have taken the same position. At a meeting here Wednesday, representatives of Australia, New Zealand and the United States expressed "satisfaction"—apparently a carefully selected word—with the Churchill-Eisenhower agreement that plans for a collective Asian defense should be pressed forward. But among themselves they agreed upon, and announced, a "need for immediate action." Diplomats say the Philippines and Thailand feel the same way about it.

Secretary Dulles has before him a plan to go ahead quickly and create some kind of a coalition by common understanding or agreement among nations willing to cooperate and to do so with or without Britain. Even when Indochinese peace negotiations have taken a decisive turn, perhaps within the next 18 days, American authorities are not sure how enthusiastically the British will act on a security system.

For that matter, some of the best informed and most astute U. S. authorities aren't sure how quickly this country can move either.

Watching parts of Indochina "go down the drain," as the saying is, the government clearly has been of two minds. Some authorities like Dulles (at least last March) and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, felt the United States had to intervene to save Indochina. There were others who talked strongly and publicly about the possible need for intervention, among them Senate Republican Leader Knowland and Vice President Nixon. Still others such as Secretary of Defense Wilson made clear that no money nor authority was being asked of Congress for such action and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey virtually ruled it out with statements about keeping taxes at nonemergency levels.

It is always difficult for a nation with divided councils at home to exert vigorous leadership abroad. French diplomats pointed this out privately. So did the British and others. There were forces in Britain pressing toward separate action on her part. The United States itself took the position that Indochina was a French problem and the French would have to solve it as best they could.

It is difficult to say when the chances of American intervention dropped off virtually to zero. It probably was shortly after the fall of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu. It became apparent then that the French could not continue indefinitely to fight the war with the combat help of only native forces while policy makers of the Allied world haggled over the conditions and circumstances under which one or another nation might join in and give help.

Fishing in such muddy and troubled waters as those which cover the whole disastrous Indochina situation, American officials at the moment are able to define the best and worst they hope for.

At best they believe that the French-Communist negotiations may produce a settlement which will keep most of Indochina free. They envision such a settlement as partitioning Viet Nam, between the Reds in the North and the native non-Communist government in the South, and leaving Laos and Cambodia whole and free to run their own affairs.

At the worst—and there is a possibility this is the way it may go—the Reds would take over a large area of Viet Nam and get political agreements covering the rest of that state and of Laos and Cambodia which would pave the way for successful Red infiltration and seizure of power later on. That way all of Indochina would go down the drain.

There is a chance, of course, that the peace negotiations will collapse. Eisenhower and Churchill agreed to prepare for collective defense whether the war goes on or not.

But in fact, the strong hope is now based, as one official put it, on a conviction that the Communists "simply can't be so stupid" as to throw away the opportunity to make an extremely favorable settlement in Indochina with the new Pierre Mendes-France government at Paris.

If the war does go on, then the whole question of intervention will again become a live issue. But there is no evidence that the Eisenhower administration would again crank up the strong enthusiasm shown by some of its leaders two to three months ago for intervention.

A peace failure now might stiffen the French policy; it might also result in a kind of collapse. But the Communists do risk a different kind of war if they present demands so tough that even Mendes-France cannot tolerate them. Despite the winding trail followed by U. S. diplomacy over the past 12 weeks, the threat of American intervention does stand in the background. There it may have some influence on Red estimates of what they ought to do. But it is only a background threat, and is neither sharp enough nor flexible enough to be used as a means of decisively influencing the kind of settlement which might be agreed upon.

One reason the United States is not now able to exercise a more decisive influence is that there seems to be no agreement either inside the U. S. government or outside it among allies as to where any Indochina dividing line can be drawn and therefore what commitments can be promised.

There is some apprehension here that as part of any deal the Reds will demand and may well get French recognition for Communist China. Some authorities at least regard this as a probability. Coupled with existing British recognition and with British efforts to improve relations with Red China, French acceptance of the Peiping regime would strengthen Red China's bid for membership in the United Nations in place of Nationalist China. The United States recognizes the Nationalists and its policy in that respect is rock-hard. The whole issue may well develop fast enough for a showdown in the U. N. meetings in the fall.

The Red China problem is one of the most disruptive in British-American relations. It has caused more political attacks on Britain here, and more on the United States in Britain, than probably any other question.

Furthermore, the passage of time seems not to mellow but to freeze the opposing policies. In Congress now there is talk of pulling the United States out of the U. N. if Red China goes in. That would split this country apart from its allies to an extreme degree since, at least on paper, the defensive alliances to which the United States belongs, generally acknowledge a legal link with the U. N. and are regarded by many of the other members as doing U. N. work in the face of Russia's veto.

There is, finally, a deeper difference between the United States and Britain—or between Churchill and Eisenhower—which was dramatically exposed in the statements made by the President and Prime Minister to newsmen this week, even though their joint statements emphasized harmony and glossed over contradictions of view.

Churchill built his rambling remarks to a press luncheon—and so to the American people—on the theme that peaceful co-existence with Russia is possible. He said it would be given "a real good try" because the alternative is a devastating war from which the Allies would emerge "victorious on a heap of ruins."

The same question about the possibility of co-existence was addressed to Eisenhower at a news conference two days later. He said he too hoped for peaceful co-existence but then declared he would never be party to any treaty that "makes anybody a slave" and wanted nothing to do with any appeasement of the Communists.

Many who heard both men gain the impression that though both would like nothing better than assurance of peaceful co-existence with Russia, Churchill has some faith that it is a practical possibility and Eisenhower has little or no such faith.

The public statements did not develop it, but Churchill as the leader of a nation living on a tight little vulnerable island, has another feeling that the President does not seem to share, at least to the same extent.

That is a pressing compulsion to go to almost any lengths to find some way of making terms with the Communists because of the dreadful alternative of an increasing danger of conflict.

The British point of view is not that of the United States and Russia, whose apprehensions about destruction are quite often obscured by muscle-flexing in the form of new jet bomber flights and atomic weapons claims.

England is no longer a champion in a world of two giants. It is desperately seeking a way to prevent the giants from coming to blows. For many months now this effort has tended to pull it away from the United States.

French Abandon Delta

60% Of Rice Rich Red River Delta Left To Vietnamh By French Forces

(Editor's Note — Tight censorship prevails in Hanoi, key point in defense of northern Indochina's Red River Delta. Larry Allen, who has been covering the Indochina fighting for two years on the spot, is in Singapore free of censorship.)

By LARRY ALLEN
SINGAPORE, July 1 (AP) — French troops have abandoned a major portion of the Red River Delta in Indochina. Completion of their withdrawal will leave 60 per cent of the rice-rich Delta in the hands of the Communist-led Vietnamh and put four million additional Vietnamese under Red control.

With abandonment of the southern sectors of the Delta, including four major French posts, the end of the almost 8-year-old war appeared not far off. This could come either by military defeat or a negotiated cease fire.

A French army spokesman in Hanoi, key point in the Delta's defense, said today the giving up of thousands of square miles of the richest rice lands in Indochina without a fight was directed by defense needs.

He said the withdrawing of troops were needed in the northern and central Delta zones to protect Hanoi and the vital Hanoi-Haiphong rail and highway supply lines from possible attack by "six Vietnamh divisions massed on the Delta border." These are in addition to 100,000 Vietnamh already infiltrated into the Delta.

This situation could presage a "Dunquerque" at the northern seaport of Haiphong if the French are unable to hold Hanoi.

Vietnamese political leaders assailed the withdrawal as a complete sell-out to the Vietnamh. The French denied it.

But many, and probably most, of the Vietnamese people in this area are likely more in sympathy with the Vietnamh than with the French or the Vietnamese politicians.

The troop withdrawal began Tuesday after a week of air evacuations of military families, French and some Vietnamese civilians. But it was not until today that the French permitted the news to come through their tight military censorship.

Points from which the French said they were pulling out include such important and heavily populated centers as Phat Diem, Thai Binh, Nam Dinh, and Nin Binh, all 45 to 70 miles south and southeast of Hanoi. Phat Diem province is predominantly Roman Catholic.

Reporters from Hanoi today said hundreds of French convoy trucks sent up huge columns of dust as troops and supplies moved northward from Nam Dinh to the French fortress of Phu Ly, 30 miles south of Hanoi.

The Nam Dinh airstrip was a merry-go-round of Dakota transport planes, landing empty and taking off with loads of civilians and wives and children of Vietnamese soldiers.

Truman Reported Still Improving Thursday

KANSAS CITY, July 1 (AP) — Harry S. Truman was reported still improving today and the former President backed it up with his own statement, "I feel I am getting stronger every day."

Robert E. Adams, acting hospital administrator, said the 70-year-old patient spent a "very restful night" and that his temperature continues normal.

Adams told newsmen Truman was taking medication by mouth and taking more food by mouth. He also said that Truman is not receiving intravenous feedings.

Adams said the patient had no nausea and that his hiccupping had essentially ceased.

Guy Johnston Completes 40 Years Work at Local Post Office Thursday

Guy Johnston, assistant postmaster of the Sedalia Post Office, is observing his 40th anniversary with the post office Thursday.

Having worked at every position, from delivery messenger on up, Guy has many memories of early Sedalia postal work, and also some amusing recollections of past Sedalia history.

He can't help but remember when he came to work, when there was one horse drawn parcel post wagon which could finish its route in an easy half day.

He now looks at the four modern trucks which are on running with full day routes.

"Even the rural routes have changed, with the average route going from 24 miles to 60 per day," he says.

Being the only person left in the Post Office from the days when he started, it seems strange to Guy how the population has shifted. "At one time I prided myself in knowing at least 90% of the population of the town," he says. "Now I do good to know my own neighbors." He credits part of this to the big Mo. Pac shop switch in 1922, but with the change in citizenry through the period of the two World Wars since he has worked there, and the coming of new industries, plus the air base, he says that the job of knowing people gets tougher all the time.

Guy and Mrs. Johnston have three daughters, Mrs. Henry Ziegenmeyer, St. Louis, Mrs. Mary Saari, Ontonagon, Mich., and Mrs. Ruby Stovall, who is in the army and will leave shortly for Panama.

Guy plans no retirement for quite a while. He just figures that he has a good start, and that more years surely can't hurt him.

He and Mrs. Johnston reside at their home at 1221 East Seventh.

Lincoln Gives OK to a Levy For Building

School Addition To Be Financed By Special Tax

The Lincoln School District R-2 passed a one-year levy of $1 per $100 valuation in a special election Wednesday to finance the construction and equipping of an elementary school addition containing four classrooms and a small storage room.

The vote was 364 for and 212 against. Polls were at the Lincoln and Santiago schools. Returns at Lincoln School were 338 for, 81 against, while at Santiago returns were 26 for, 131 against.

Some juggling was necessary to do it, since a proposed bond issue for a school addition had been defeated twice before, once on March 4 and again on April 6. A two-thirds majority was required to carry the bond issue.

This time the amount was put in the form of a tax levy, so that a simple majority would be enough to carry it. The amount itself was reduced, since the expected revenue from the special levy has been estimated at about $26,000, the assessed valuation of District R-2 being $2,597,710.

This in turn meant reducing the plans for the proposed building extension. The lunchroom - all-purpose room originally contained in the plans has been eliminated. The extension was designed by Schwartz & Associates, Sedalia architects.

A further saving was accomplished by changing the amount to a tax levy which, unlike a bond issue, carries no interest charge. This figure has been placed at $12,775, the amount of interest on a $30,000 bond issue for a 20-year period.

The special levy is in addition to a school levy of $1.25 approved by the voters of R-2 last April for the teachers and incidental funds. To this amount, the state will add up to $25,000 in building aid almost half of the total cost of the extension.

Supt. Ray Nelson said Thursday morning that the new addition will be begun sometime around next February, when the tax money starts coming in. Bids will be requested on the project then. The state aid money will come in several payments, the first one to be received after a certain percentage of the work on the addition has been completed.

Nelson expressed pleasure at the election's outcome and said he believed full cooperation in the arrangement of the new system would be received from all voters in the school district.

Writ Hearing Delayed

KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 1 (AP) — A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus sought by Merle W. Martin, a convicted slayer was delayed for 24 hours today.

U. S. District Judge Arthur J. Mollott delayed the proceedings because of the failure of the Kansas attorney general to file an answer to show cause why Martin should not be granted a writ.

Martin is scheduled to die July 16 for the slaying of Willard Carver, a Johnson County deputy sheriff.

After today's session he was returned to the Kansas State Prison.

Plumbers' Strike Ends

At 2:45 p. m. Thursday it was announced the strike had been settled by the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry of the United States and Canada, Sedalia Local No. 425, AFL, against the master plumbers' shops in Sedalia. Pickets at the various shops have been removed.

Maintenance Phone Strike Taking Shape

Pickets Already Out In Texas As Last Minute Talks Proceed

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP) — The CIO struck the maintenance arm of the nation's vital telephone system from coast to coast today. In late afternoon coffee shop peace talks got under way.

Pickets showed up in some Texas cities. But elsewhere in the nation they held off for the time being. Picketing, rather than the strike itself, would endanger normal service.

Late in the day, top men of the CIO Communications Workers Union sat down over coffee with Western Electric Co. negotiators near their hotel headquarters.

The talks broke up in early evening without any agreement but the sides planned to get together again tomorrow and a union spokesman remarked:

"We are hopeful as long as the talks are continuing."

They had wrangled fruitlessly throughout the night over wages and contract benefits covering 17,000 Western Electric employees. After the meeting broke up the union announced at 6 a. m.:

"The strike is on."

As the signal rolled across the nation, maintenance men walked off their jobs and by noon most of the 17,000 were idle.

The strike didn't affect most Americans. Eighty per cent of the nation's phones are dial and can operate almost indefinitely without attention.

However, general picketing could keep 300,000 telephone operators off the job and snarl long distance service. They are members of the same union.

When pickets appeared in Texas, operators refused to cross their lines. Elsewhere, picketing was deferred for the time being—probably until Tuesday.

Reported 'Bootlegging' Fireworks to Children

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP) — The St. Louis County sheriff's office said today it has been receiving complaints that some fireworks stands in the county are "bootlegging" firecrackers to children.

Deputy Sheriff Otto Kissner, in charge of enforcing the county's anti-fireworks ordinance, said all deputies have been instructed to arrest anyone caught selling or buying banned fireworks.

Enforcement has been made difficult, he said, because owners of some of the stands display only non-explosive fireworks such as sparklers and sell explosive fireworks from concealed stocks.

A warrant is needed for a search inside the stand, Kissner said.

Question 3 Men In City

After Investigation Of Smithton Bank Robbery, All Were Released; 1 Retaken

Three Negroes who were picked up for investigation in connection with the holdup of the Smithton Bank were questioned all night Wednesday and released shortly before noon Thursday. One of the trio, identified as Tom Thuston, 300 North Osage, was picked up by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for further questioning regarding arms found in his home by them.

The Smithton Bank was held up at 12:03 p. m. Wednesday by two Negroes, both armed, who made away with some $2,500 and $3,000 in various denominations of money. John S. Daniels, 68, cashier of the bank, and Mrs. William Ripley, 22, bookkeeper, were the only two employees in the bank at the time.

Two Negroes were apprehended, shortly after the bank robbery, northeast of Sedalia by State Trooper Pete Stohr, who was met by the Sedalia police. The men were taken to police headquarters. Later a third Negro was picked up and held for questioning.

Within a few minutes after the holdup report was received, Sheriff John Taylor, his deputies and several State Highway Patrol troopers moved in on the area, while Sedalia police patrol cars were stationed at roads leading into Sedalia in hopes of apprehending the bank robber car.

FBI agents arrived in Sedalia late Wednesday afternoon and, with the State Patrol, sheriff and police, questioned the trio through the night.

Shortly before noon the FBI agents searched the home of Thuston and picked up a sawed-off shotgun and two pistols. They then took Thuston into custody for investigation regarding the possession of unregistered firearms. It is against the federal law, an agent reported, to have possession of a gun such as a sawed-off shotgun or a fully automatic weapon.

Thuston, the agents reported, will be taken to Jefferson City.

No other clues have been received regarding the identification of either the holdup men or cars used in the get-away.

The State Highway Patrol has sent to its laboratory at Jefferson City money drawers from the bank which were handled by one of the bandits who went behind the counter. It was the same bandit who struck Daniels on the back of the head with his gun.

Capt. O. L. Viets, commanding officer of Troop A State Patrol, came to Sedalia Thursday to assist in the investigation.

Use Dieldrin On Chinch Bugs In Corn Fields

By Merle Vaughan

The latest insect to make an appearance is chinch bugs. Junior Nichols, route 2 Nelson (north-east Pettis County) reported Wednesday his corn was wilting and he found the stalks just black with bugs.

The recommended treatment is Dieldrin applied at 1/4 to 1/2 pounds actual per acre. The heavier rate (1/2 pound) should be used with air applications, or if some of the bugs are working on the stalks, below ground.

Unless there are hoppers too, the spray nozzles over the row should be plugged and drops put in the nozzles between the rows so as to spray the material on the stalks.

If the bugs are moving, only the rows at the side of the field will need to be sprayed. One spraying, especially at the heavier rate, will last about 14 days.

The girls' parties—Committee Counsel William Simon told reporters one of them lasted for two days—were in a series of questions put to Andrew Frost, who was suspended last Friday from his job with the Federal Housing Administration.

Frost, 43, appeared without counsel at the Senate Banking committee's investigation of alleged collusion between some building contractors and housing officials.

He answered questions readily about his service with the housing agency until they began to deal with fishing trips and girls. Then he invoked his constitutional right not to give testimony that might be self-incriminating, as Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) assured him he had "a perfect right" to do.

Frost thus joined Clyde L. Powell, former assistant FHA commissioner for rental housing, who twice has declined to answer questions before the committee.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) says it was Powell's gambling losses that "first attracted the attention of the FBI" and led to a series of scandals that left the agency shorn of many of its top officials.

Frost, who has been with FHA since 1934 and was assistant director for New Mexico, declined to answer these questions, among others:

1. Did he, on March 31, 1953, ask the contractor on a housing project being built with government-insured loans to give him a party "the night of the groundbreaking" with girls furnished by the contractor? This apparently was the party which Simon said lasted two days and allegedly was to celebrate the beginning of a job referred to as the Holloman Housing Project.

2. Did he, at about the same time, attend a party at an Alamogordo, N. M., hotel at which three girls were supplied by a contractor at a cost of between $300 and $400? And was this cost charged to the construction job?

3. Did Frost, between Oct. 16-18, 1953, take a fishing trip to Chihuahua, Mexico, with a contractor doing business with FHA? Were all the expenses from Frost's base at Albuquerque to El Paso paid by government and did the contractors pay for the rest of the trip?

4. Did Frost take a similar fishing trip in January 1953 to Matamoros, Mexico, with the government paying expenses from New Mexico to Texas and some contractors picking up the tab from there on?

KC Power Co. Would Offer Larger Wage

KANSAS CITY, July 1 (AP) — The Kansas City Public Service Co., today notified its operators it would make a larger wage offer if it could obtain permission to curtail "some of its more hopelessly losing lines."

Both the company and the union, the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees Association, AFL, agreed yesterday to continue negotiations on a new contract past the midnight deadline for a work stoppage.

House Refuses Flexible Farm Price Supports

Accepts Compromise Plan To Support Basic Commodities

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — The House refused to accept the administration's flexible system of farm price supports today but voted 179-164 for a compromise plan which would support basic commodities at from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent parity.

Both actions in the big farm fight were tentative and subject to reconsideration when the House takes final action on its general agriculture bill tomorrow.

President Eisenhower's program for supporting the main crops on a sliding scale ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity was shouted down on a voice vote.

But GOP leaders succeeded in putting across their last-minute compromise after intimating it was an alternative to a presidential veto of farm legislation this year.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana, the Republican House leader, appealed to members to go along with the middle-of-the-road approach "as the first step to get away from high, rigid price supports put on in wartime."

Many farm state legislators want another year of 90 per cent supports for the nation's six basic crops.

The standing vote on the compromise, which was not recorded, went surprisingly along party lines, with only about 20 Republicans opposing it and about the same number of Democrats favoring it. Rep. Harrison (R-Meb.) was the sponsor of the amendment.

Before the vote was taken, Halleck warned advocates of high price props that they would have to take the responsibility for public indignation if farm surpluses continued to pile up in unmanageable quantities.

Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) of the House Agriculture Committee, who spearheaded the fight for a continuation of 90 per cent supports, said he was surprised by the outcome. "I thought we were making some headway," he commented.

There is a standard for fixing farm prices, declared by law to be fair to the farmer in relation to the cost of basic things he buys. Hope told reporters he thought there was "a good chance" of reversing the decision on the compromise when the House begins a series of rollcall votes tomorrow. He said he expected to pick up some support from the 92 members who were not voting today.

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla.) predicted flatly that today's vote "will be reversed."

But Speaker Martin of Massachusetts said the result would remain as it is.

Democratic House Leader Rayburn of Texas attacked the compromise bitterly in the debate saying he could see no difference "between murder and manslaughter."

"You can't kill this just a little by bringing in 82 1/2 per cent," he said.

"We ought to stand up and be counted on whether we are to continue this 90 per cent program which brought prosperity to the farmers and to all the people of the United States."

As for surpluses, he said, "I don't know what is going to happen tomorrow when a trouble comes, these surpluses are going to disappear pretty fast. I'm not afraid of surpluses."

Senate Defeats Last Minute Move To Get Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — The Senate struck down today, by a 50-33 vote, an 11th hour move to give every taxpayer a $20 reduction on his tax bill.

It was the third time in two days that the idea of general tax relief was rejected. The prevailing argument was that the government needs the money.

In another roll call vote, the Senate took out of the general tax revision bill the most important part of an administration plan to give special relief to taxpayers who get part of their income from dividends. The vote was a lopsided 71-13.

Here, again, the government's need for revenue was cited. Another argument was summed up by Sen. Dworkshak (R-Idaho), a candidate for reelection:

"This is not the time for it, when we cannot do anything for the wage earner."

Those voting on the amendment to whittle down the benefit for dividend income included 30 senators whose terms expire at the end of this year. Of these, 27 voted for the amendment and 3 against it.

This amendment was offered by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) who, incidentally, is not a candidate for re-election. It would eliminate a section under which taxpayers could deduct 5 per cent of their dividend income from their tax bill. It would leave a section by which they could figure the first $50 of dividends as tax-free.

Democrats assailed the proposed dividend treatment as special treatment for the wealthy. Republicans said it was a proper device to encourage the flow of money into stocks so that the economy would be strengthened by job-creating industrial and commercial expansion.

Johnson, arguing for his amendment, said that six billion dollars of income tax relief has already been granted this year, and that the Treasury could not afford to lose more.

Sen. Williams (R-Del.) took a similar stand.

There wasn't any sustained defense of the dividend plan and chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Finance Committee offered to accept its scrapping without a vote.

However, a roll call was demanded to put the Senate on record before a conference committee tackles the job of adjusting Senate and House tax legislation.

The House bill would exempt from taxation the first $50 of dividend income and permit the taxpayer to deduct from his tax bill 5 per cent of the dividend income above $50 in the first year of the bill. In subsequent years, the exemption would apply to the first $100 and the deduction would increase to 12 per cent.

Guatemala Truce Is Near

US Ambassador May Have Differences Between The Rival Factions Settled

BULLETIN
GUATEMALA, July 1 (AP) — The Guatemalan army and police were swamped today with mounting demands for help in putting down Communist-led uprisings in the countryside. They admitted they didn't have enough reserves.

These authorities already were overburdened with the task of amassing evidence of massacres and torture killings under the Red-backed regime of ousted President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Another big task was tracking down the Communist leaders who were the backbone of his government.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, July 1 (AP) — There were indications tonight that U. S. Ambassador John E. Peurifoy had patched up the differences between the two rival anti-Communist regimes of Guatemala.

The ambassador flew here from Guatemala today in the role of peacemaker between Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, leader of the short anti-Communist invasion, and Col. Elfigo Monzon, head of the new military junta who are trying to agree on a new government—the fourth in a week.

After conferring separately with the two colonels, Peurifoy announced they would issue a joint statement shortly.

They were working under a cease-fire deadline — which they had agreed should be extended to 9 a. m. tomorrow.

They resumed their talks today after a futile all-night session which broke up at 3:55 a. m. Shortly before Peurifoy arrived for what was his second day here, they recessed their talks at noon in order to rest.

Peurifoy had been invited to join the talks here at the outset, but chose to remain in the background to counter possible charges of U. S. intervention in Central American affairs. Salvadorean President Oscar Osorio has been acting as mediator.

"We will get this straightened out," Peurifoy told newsmen on his departure from Guatemala City in a special army plane.

The 46-year-old diplomat rushed to the airport early today when he received a cryptic message that the army plane which carried Col. Monzon was returning. He hoped Col. Monzon and Col. Castillo Armas were coming back with a settlement.

But later word said Col. Monzon alone was returning after the collapse of negotiations. Peurifoy paced impatiently at the airport for two hours. He has been credited with a key role in negotiations leading to the Sunday ouster of Communist-backed Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

When word finally came that no one was returning, Peurifoy decided to fly to San Salvador himself to seek a compromise between the two leaders. Both are his personal friends. U. S. Ambassador to El Salvador Michael McDevitt is also friendly with the Guatemalan leaders who they arrived yesterday, but has not taken part in the meetings.

Urges Increased Water

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP) — Supervisor Luman F. M. Matthews of St. Louis County today urged the Missouri Public Service Commission to force the St. Louis County Water Co. to increase its capacity.

A serious water shortage developed in the county last week-end and residents were asked to curtail their use of water.

Matthews said in a letter to the commission that the water company has not expanded its facilities to properly meet an increased demand for water.

Crossroads Comment

The St. Joseph News-Press is provoked over the way slow-footed retard community progress. The newspaper expresses its indignation in the following editorial:

"Drama on the North Side" is the caption on an editorial in the Kansas City Times. It commends the city council for clearing the way for redevelopment of the North Side. The council and the Times are right. But the word 'dilapidated' or to vision the 'ultra-modern' program of the era.

"There are some old fogies in this St. Joe town who always are bellyaching about how Kansas City goes forward, yak-yak-yak-yak, and poor old St. Joe never goes any place. These same bellyachers whine the loudest when any progressive step is suggested in St. Joe.

"There is nothing the matter with St. Joe, men of 1954, nothing except that some of our city council lack the guts the city council of Kansas City has.

BPWC Convention Urges Equal Legal Rights For Women

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP) — A legislative program urging equal legal rights for women and equal pay for comparable work was adopted today by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The delegates to the federation's biennial convention also called for the establishment of a uniform retirement age under the Social Security Act, the end of discrimination because of sex; and the lowering of trade barriers.

Delegates also advocated two tax adjustments affecting employed women, including income tax deductions to employed persons for costs of caring for dependents because of employment and liberalized deductions for medical care.

Earlier, the federation chose Mrs. Mary Breckinridge of Wendover, Ky., for its 1954 distinguished service award, in recognition for her work in a frontier nursing service which she established in the Kentucky mountains in 1925.

Tonight the 3,000 delegates honored Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), recently renominated, at a banquet.

Fashion Frolic-- Be Discreet After Forty

By Alicia Hart
NEA Beauty Editor

Summer is the season for frolicking with fashion. It's the season when girls who are known for their conservative attire the rest of the year wear the maddest of hats with the greatest aplomb.

They appear in scandalously bare shoes with utter nonchalance. And they dangle the zaniest of earrings with gypsy confidence.

Playing along with the capricious season, girls indulge their whims for the widest of cart-wheel hats, the shortest of shorts, the biggest of handbags without invidious disapproving frowns.

But there comes a time when the wise woman approaches the season with a new caution. She realizes that most fashion foibles are successful only as complements of youth. Therefore, after 40, she lets discretion be her guide to summer fashion.

The terribly exotic jewelry, the very bare sun dresses, the zany accessories are no longer for her. She finds it wiser to play a more genteel part in fashion.

Shunning the fluffy ruffles, the fruit-laden necks, the extreme in any case, she continues to kick up fashion heels, but far more discreetly.

She now looks for the things that are dramatic without being too bold, or dainty without being childish. She learns to steer a safe course between extremes and this develops a new fashion sense that enhances the new beauty and poise the years have brought.

They pointed out that one of the functions of the feet is weight bearing, with 60 percent of the body weight on the heels, 30 percent on the outside of the foot, and ten percent on the inside. Shoes should be fitted to conform to the real architecture of the feet.

Following the talk, Connie Adams gave a demonstration of the making of lemonsade.

Hold K.C. Open July 29-Aug. 1 At Blue Hills

A classy field of golf pros will appear in the $20,000 Kansas City Open which will be staged at the Blue Hills Country Club from July 29 through Aug. 1. Blue Hills is located at Sixtieth Street and The Paseo.

Porky Oliver, the "fat-man" of golf won the event last year with a 72-hole total of 269, which set an all-time mark for the meet. He was 19 under and Oliver came home with a 7-under 65 par on the final 18-hole route for the sugar-coated victory. The old mark of 271 was set by Lloyd Mangrum in 1950.

Oliver had been a threat in previous tournaments and finally came through for the triumph.

Other former Kansas City Open champions who will play in the four-day event include Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum and Big Jim Ferrier.

Also back for more greenbacks will be Marty Furgol, who finished in the runner-up spot last year with a 271, two strokes behind Oliver. Furgol's opening day 72 almost tempted him to quit, but the pro changed his mind and he came through rounds of 65-67-67 to grab $1,900 in money.

Earl Stewart Jr., finished third last year and pocketed $1,400. Bob Wininger, former Oklahoma A. & M. star athlete, Mangrum and Jim Turnesa tied for fourth with 274 each and they won $1,100 a piece.

Last year more than $12,000 was given to Mercy Hospital. This is one of the few tournaments throughout the country in which the proceeds are given to some worthy cause.

New Classes Added to Fair Horse Show

The addition of many new classes to the 1954 Missouri State Fair Horse Show is the paramount factor in an all-out effort to establish the "Show Me" State Fair event as the "greatest of its kind in the middle west."

Cunningham, Mexico, and Walter M. Bothin, Wentzville, as members, has prepared a six-night program that is destined to draw the largest list of entries ever made at the State Fair Show. Dates of the show are Aug. 22 through 27.

Among the added classes are a three-year-old five-gaited class, amateur, junior, novice, stable mascot, groom, roping, Sheldahl Pony, and draft horse classes.

Besides the new classes, premium money in the show has been substantially increased, several stake classes added, and plans are still being formulated in a serious effort to improve the show.

Officers of this year's show are: Fred P. Schell Jr., Liberty, president; E. M. Woods, Jefferson City, and Charles Geagan, Menlo Park, Calif., assistant superintendents; Ralph Scott, Trenton, steward; Forrest A. Gibson, Liberty, clerk; Walter Bothin, Wentzville, announcer; J. ## His 'Pals' Helped Him Win New Violin Early In Career—

Ira Bronson Still Lives With His Music

By Charles Walch

Ira Bronson, a man whom most lifelong Sedalians know, has really had a wealth of experience. In interviewing him the other day, it seemed that one experience led to another story, until the collection of events would be too long to print.

Ira was still a very young man when he began to study the violin under one of the true pioneers of Sedalia music, Professor Greger. Having progressed very well, it became time for his first concerto recital. Young Ira's father, Dr. Ira Bronson, was not known for his amicability concerning music matters. When he first learned of the recital, he told Ira bluntly: "You and your sister will play the concerto 100 times before the recital, and the reward for each of you will be a $5 goldpiece. Ira played the concerto the prescribed 100 times and did receive the goldpiece.

With the goldpiece in his pocket, Ira still had another bridge to cross. "This 'fiddle' was in bad shape and he did need a new one. He knew, however, that his father was not the type to make a purchase of this sort without some merit behind it. The night before the concert, Dr. Bronson again called his son in for conference, saying that if the performance merited an encore a new violin would await him.

Now encores were no more plentiful at the end of a concerto than they are now. Ira, being an honest boy, decided that purchased chair warmers for the performance would be illegal, but he slipped up and told some of his pals about the offer — all very innocently. The next day you would have thought the house would come down with applause, for when the concerto was over there sat the pals, cheering for an encore for all they were worth. Yes, it was the same old gang—Leonard Kroenke, Arthur Hoffman, Percy Metcalfe, Charles Hull, Will Wallman and Ben Clay—who had won the new violin for Ira.

The recital was just one of the accomplishments of Ira in the field of music. Continuing violin for a number of years, he decided that he would take up the cello, so that he could help out the First Christian Church with its orchestra. He did this, taking some lessons from Prof. W. B. Hert and some in Kansas City. After contributing his part to the success of this orchestra, Ira kept right on the job. The Sedalia Symphony Orchestra was coming into existence, and Ira did his turn again, now being one of the few remaining charter members of the organization. Two Sedalia bands also had Ira as a member, playing snare drums in each.

It is with the Sedalia Symphony, in which Ira still plays, that his musical heart remains. He rarely misses a rehearsal, and rarer yet is his absence from a concert. Not only is he accomplished on the cello, but he keeps right at his practice today, and holds the first chair position in the group, helping the younger musicians in the orchestra when he can.

Ira's family was musical, too. His mother and father both sang in the Methodist choir, and his sister, Maude, was an accomplished pianist. Blanche, his other sister, did most of his accom-

Number of Autos In Sedalia Jumps Third Since '40

Perhaps there is a reason Sedalia's streets seem crowded and traffic problems keep bobbing up.

And perhaps that reason is the increase in the number of cars owned and operated by Sedalians. Since 1940 the number has increased more than one third, with the number edging upward year by year.

The number of car stickers sold by the city in 1940 was 3,295 and in 1953 there were 5,050 distributed. The 1954 stickers are now on sale and must be on by July 1.

Here's the year by year totals for car sticker sales in Sedalia to indicate and show the car population's upward trend:

1940—3295	1947—3783
1941—3372	1948—3935
1942—2950	1949—4443
1943—2881	1950—4698
1944—2888	1951—4786

Kerry Gentry Leaves For Naval Academy

Kerry Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Gentry, 615 West Fourth, left Saturday for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Kerry was salutatorian of the Smith-Cotton High School graduating class last May and received the appointment on the basis of his fine record there and his superior ability.

There was a little house located about 500 feet from where their one-time mansion stood. They moved back to it, fixing it up to their desires, and there you can find them any time today.

Mr. Bronson has his cello and the same violin which he received as the recital reward over 50 years ago, and plays and practices them frequently. Having numerous compositions of his own, and producing new ones constantly, he keeps busy, either with his music, work around the farm, caring for his bird haven, or photography, which is another one of his second loves.

Mrs. Bronson, in asking her to be in the pictures and story, modestly said, "This is Ira's story—let's let him have it."

Number of Autos In Sedalia Jumps Third Since '40

Perhaps there is a reason Sedalia's streets seem crowded and traffic problems keep bobbing up.

And perhaps that reason is the increase in the number of cars owned and operated by Sedalians. Since 1940 the number has increased more than one third, with the number edging upward year by year.

The number of car stickers sold by the city in 1940 was 3,295 and in 1953 there were 5,050 distributed. The 1954 stickers are now on sale and must be on by July 1.

Here's the year by year totals for car sticker sales in Sedalia to indicate and show the car population's upward trend:

1940—3295	1947—3783
1941—3372	1948—3935
1942—2950	1949—4443
1943—2881	1950—4698
1944—2888	1951—4786

US Steel Ups Price To Meet Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—(P)—The nation's biggest steel producer, U. S. Steel Corp., boosted the price of steel $3 a ton today to offset a wage increase in its new labor contract.

Just what effect the increase will have on the average American is still unanswered. Most manufacturers of products made of steel are inclined to think the price boost will not be passed on to the consumer.

Hard days have fallen on some manufacturers of automobiles, home appliances, farm equipment and many other industries using steel. Their sales already are off.

Most manufacturers, however, declined to comment immediately on the effect of increased steel prices.

Clifford F. Hood, U. S. Steel president, said the price hike will be put into effect as soon as cost production lists can be prepared. That is expected to take only a few days.

Basic carbon steel, the cheapest grade made, is now selling for $120 a ton at the mill.

Most of the nation's big steel producers are expected to fall in line quickly and announce price increases similar to U. S. Steel's. Last year the industry boosted the price of steel $4 a ton after signing an agreement with the CIO United Steel Workers giving workmen an 8 1/2 cents an hour pay hike. That boost was passed on to consumers.

But this year, business conditions put the manufacturers in a different spot. Already they are in a more competitive market.

Roy W. Johnson, executive vice president of General Electric Co.'s appliance and electronics division, said the new steel rates may force higher price tags on a few consumer products manufactured by his company. He added:

"Because of the current competitive market for most major appliances, an across-the-board price increase is improbable at this time."

However, due to the slim margins on these products, the increased cost of production cannot be absorbed over a long period of time, thus necessitating possible price increases as new models are introduced."

Federal Agents Arrest Suspected Counterfeiters

NASHVILLE, Ill., July 1.—(P)—Federal agents announced tonight the arrest of two Nashville men they accused of manufacturing and passing counterfeit $10 bills.

In custody were Elmer Hake, 66, and Carl Zerze.

Elliott B. Thacker, agent in charge of the Secret Service office at Springfield, Ill., said the men had made about $8,000 in bogus bills during the past year and a half.

The plates and other equipment used in making the counterfeit money were seized today at Zerze's home here, Thacker said.

Thacker said Zerze, a former engraver and printer, made the bogus bills and that Hake, an employee of the Illinois highway department at French Village near East St. Louis, distributed the money and financed the venture.

Hake was seized yesterday near Oakville, Ill., and state police circulated a missing person report on him before it was learned he was in federal custody. A filling station attendant who witnessed the arrest had notified state police, thinking Hake had been kidnapped.

Thacker said Zerze admitted his part in the counterfeiting scheme, implicating Hake, but that Hake denied any part in it and insisted he did not know that a number of bogus bills found in his possession were counterfeit.

Mental Patient Charged With 1st Degree Murder

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—(P)—A youthful former patient at a state mental hospital was charged with first degree murder today in the fatal shooting Tuesday night of Dr. A. Z. Sharp, former St. Louis County health commissioner.

A warrant was issued against Thomas P. Herman, 22-year-old neighbor of Sharp, by Magistrate John S. Stevens four hours after a coroner's jury reported it had been unable to establish the identity of the killer.

Herman was committed to a state mental hospital at Farmington about four years ago after he was reported to have threatened Dr. Sharp. Hermann was paroled from the hospital after about four months.

Mrs. Katherine Sharp, widow of the physician, testified earlier today at the coroner's inquest that Mrs. Marguerite Hermann, Herman's mother, once told her: "Dr. Sharp is responsible for Tom being sent to Farmington and if Tom ever found that out, it would be just too bad."

Mrs. Sharp, her 16-year-old son Cecil, and a next-door maid, Miss Celeste Eaton, all testified at the inquest, they recognized loud, angry voices outside the Sharp home in suburban Ladue just before the killing as those of members of the Hermann family.

It was these voices that led Dr. Sharp to go to a door of his home to investigate. His son opened the door and Dr. Sharp was killed by a single shot fired by a man outside, who fled without saying a word.

Hermann and his brother, 26-year-old James E. Hermann, had been under $1,000 bond each for appearance at the inquest. They refused to testify, on advice of their attorney.

Knowland Lashes Red China's Admittance

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(P)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today that if the United Nations admit Red China he will quit his post as the Senate Republican leader and devote all his energy to take the United States out of the U. N.

The deadly serious, deep-voiced Knowland declared in a Senate speech that France, "in a thinly disguised surrender," is setting much of the Indochina slip into Red hands while "the free nations of the world seem to be faced with inertia."

Following this Communist victory, he predicted, there will spring up a concerted effort to bring Communist China into the U. N. through action of the General Assembly.

"On the day that Communist China is voted into membership," he said, "I shall resign my seat so that without embarrassment to any of my colleagues or to the administration, I can devote my full efforts in the Senate and throughout the country to terminate United States membership in that organization and our financial support of it."

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States and Britain, if they were firm enough, could stop this constant border shooting between Jordan and Israel.

It might not be diplomatically polite, but it would be effective.

The two big powers, along with France, are supposed to be guarantors of the truce between Israel and the Arab states obtained under United Nations mediation. They have done very little to live up to their obligation.

Their influence is not so great, or is completely lacking, among other members of the Arab League. But the situation in Jordan and Israel is clear.

The very establishment of the Jewish state in Israel depended upon and resulted from United States aid in the beginning. The late James Forrestal was greatly disturbed at the time because, whether or not the American decision was correct, it was based so heavily on the need of Democratic party leaders for Zionist campaign contributions in New York and Pennsylvania.

He also feared that the United States might be called on for military enforcement of the partition of Palestine when he, as first defense secretary, had no forces available.

But that is beside the point Israel was established. The Arabs were driven out of one of the richest areas they occupied, and they took up hatred almost as a religion.

They also adopted fear, as Israel's campaign to gather in all of the Jews of the world, except those of the United States, made it appear that the boundaries of Israel would not long contain the new state, producing demands for additional territory.

Now Israel has, in practice, somewhat curtailed her immigration policy. Her primary aim had been to get European Jews, both for the contributions they could make to the new state and to get them out of countries where they had been so long persecuted. But she began to get a horde of Middle Eastern and other Jews who didn't fit into the economic development program and proved a burden rather than a help. Now the government is using greater discrimination. But it won't make a formal agreement with the Arabs to curtail immigration and remove the fear.

So a state of suspended war and occasional clashes continues. But Israel is heavily dependent upon money from American Zionists for her existence until she can become self-supporting.

Jordan's army is, for many practical purposes, a child of Britain. It is supported by British funds and run by a Britisher. The United States, like any other nation, has the power to control its exports.

By exercising the powers they already have, Britain and the United States could merely tell the two states to stop the shooting and the odds were very heavily that they would have to do so. But don't expect it to be done.

JERUSALEM, July 1.—(P)—Gunfire raged along the tense Israel-Jordan border in this divided city again late today. The U. N. Armistice Commission redoubled efforts undertaken just after the shooting began yesterday to put in force an "unconditional and sincere ceasefire."

Sporadic mortar, machine gun and rifle exchanges last night and this morning harried the border territory and continued in the afternoon.

Israeli authorities said 1 woman was killed and 14 persons wounded but later unofficial reports put the toll at one killed, 23 wounded.

The Jordan government in the walled Old City said an Arab Legion soldier had been wounded during the night.

The firing subsided in mid morning after members of the U. N. truce organization intervened four times with Israeli and Jordan officials. Both sides reported a resumption of hostilities.

Israeli Prime Minister Moshe Sharett announced his government will appeal to the U. N. Security Council against what he called Jordan's "wanton violation of the peace of Jerusalem." There was no immediate comment from Jordan officials.

time and effort toward getting it located at the Sedalia Air Force base will heave a sigh of relief that the final decision is made. Hopeful anticipation all these months has worn some nerves threadbare.

A tonic aftermath is realization that this was one enterprise begun, continued and ended in which there was unanimity among Sedalians. The bellyachers never made a chirp.

Now if we can get behind something else that will end favorably and promote the city's welfare a celebration might be held for solidarity.
